

New Parking Tax May Cost DC $3.5 Million

By FRANK LAPIERRE
Still reeling from traffic headaches created by the recent opening of the Bay Area Rapid Transit station, the Daly City City Council had another hot potato dropped in its lap Monday.

City Manager David Rowe informed the council a tough new Environmental Protection Agency regulation designed to get more cars off the road and more people into mass transit might cost local businesses $3.5 million by July, 1976.

In an unanimous move, the council passed a resolution instructing its staff to seek ways and means of having the EPA regulation curbed.

City Attorney Albert Polonsky explained he is filing suit on the matter immediately in the U.S. Circuit Court. He said he expected other Peninsula cities to also file "to protect their rights."

The full thrust of the EPA regulation is to remove cars from the roads. But the way they are doing it is to tax them out of being," Polonsky said.

What has sparked anger and frustration among cities up and down the state is the section of the EPA (dated Nov. 12) Part Two, dealing with motor vehicle use and parking surcharges. In short it is called the "California Transportation Control Plan."

First cities to feel direct effects of this plan will be those with populations over 100,000 — San Mateo, San Jose, and San Francisco on the Peninsula.

These cities will be required to start taxing for parking spaces at the rate of $360 per space beginning in July, 1974, any "free lot" with five or more spaces, such as shopping centers.

Commercial parking lots must collect 20 cents surcharge per hour per parking space in any lot with five or more spaces, while employee parking lots (including city employees) will have a tax levied amounting to $2 per day plus the commercial charge.

One year after this regulation comes into effect, these surcharges will be raised.

(See Related Story, Page 9)

There will be some "reward" for those using mass transit or forming car pools, under the new regulation.

For example, two-employee car pools will be charged one-half the rate, while three employees riding in the same car will pay nothing to park at work.

Employers have over 70 employees will be required to reimburse those workers who use mass transit to get to work.

An outstanding example discussed Monday by Daly City officials is the fact that while San Francisco and San Mateo would be required to implement this federal regulation within seven months (July 1, 1974) Daly City would not have to comply until one year later — July 1, 1975 — and cities with less than 50,000 population in July, 1976.

Yet Stonestown, which is located less than a mile from the Westlake Shopping Center and three miles from the sprawling Serramonte Shopping Center, must begin paying the surtax a full 12 months before Daly City, the regulation points out.

And while San Bruno with its giant Tanforan center would not begin the program until one year after Daly City.

"This can have nothing but a detrimental effect on the business community," Rowe said.

In the case of Daly City, as in the case of most Peninsula cities, there is no alternative means of transportation ready if a motorist does decide to leave his car at home and ride mass transit.

The regulation notes that more than 50 per cent of the revenue collected as a result of this law would be used for subsidizing mass transit.

It does not say where.

Rowe and Polonsky said their studies of the controversial plan points up that the revenues could feasibly be applied to mass transit outside the city levying and collecting the surtax.

"This wouldn't benefit us one bit," Rowe said.

Part of the surtax would be used to enforce the plan.

"It is the staff's conclusion after study of the regulations and the probable effect that the imposition of the parking aspects of the plan will have serious adverse effects on the social

Woman Is Ordered To Give Up Her Cats

The Cat Lady of Daly City was found guilty by a unanimous verdict of the jury of being in violation of a city ordinance which prohibits housing more than two cats at a time.

Colleen Vivian (Sally) Meier by last count had 32 feline friends sheltered in a structure at 6069 Mission St., Daly City.

The matter had been brought before Municipal Judge Charles Becker's court in South San Francisco after city attorney Albert Polonsky failed to get the woman to dispose of her cats any other way, city officials allege.

Earlier this year, the cat lover was brought to court in San Francisco on similar charges, but they were dropped when she told the San Francisco court she had found shelter for the animals in Daly City.

A newspaper article told of the relocation of the cats in Daly City.

City officials immediately went into an uproar and told Polonsky to investigate the matter. Several months and many hours of legal research later, Polonsky took the matter before the jury.

Representing the cat owner was San Francisco attorney Gordon Wright.

Judge Becker ordered Ms. Meier to report back to his court within 30 days.

Meanwhile, Becker continued imposition of sentencing and instructed the woman to attempt to find suitable homes for the cats.

Kyriakis (note upturned umbrella), Verna Teglia, Mayor Giammona, Mrs. Emmett Tierney, Dr. John Connolly, Sarah Kelchava, City Librarian Sam Chandler, Jim Devencenze, Helen Staub, Velma Yule, Al Teglia, and City Manager David Rowe (in background). The Mayor gave the shortest speech of his political career when he ordered "Let's get out of here."

Commercial Upgrade Ordered

After two years of scathing criticism from redevelopment opponents, the praise heaped on Daly City councilmen Monday for scrapping its plans was "pretty heady stuff," one official commented after the meeting.

As early as a month ago it was rumored some councilmen had misgivings about the redevelopment plan in the face of continued opposition from many property owners in the area around the Bay Area Rapid Transit District.

Last week, during a public study session on the issue, it was made crystal clear the council wanted to leave the residential area alone and divert their attention solely to rejuvenating the commercial strips along Mission St. and Junipero Serra Blvd.

Monday, in an unanimous vote, the council backed councilman Bernard Lycett's motion to direct the city's Planning Commission to modify its previous project area boundaries and exclude all residential areas.

Under Lycett's motion, approved by councilmen Victor Kyriakis, McRobert Stewart, Paul Hupf and Anthony Giammona, an area from the top of Mission St. south to San Pedro Road-East Market St. and including a small triangle of commercial property at the intersection of Mission and San Jose Ave. and from the BART station on Knowles Ave. down Junipero Serra Blvd. south to Citrus Ave. will be in the redevelopment project area.

Even with this modification, the process of establishing committees from businessmen in the project area, and the few homeowners still affected under the new plan, is expected to be a long, drawn out issue.

Plans must again be drawn and approved by various agencies in compliance with Redevelopment Law.

Mrs. Dina Matteucci, co-chairperson of the Original Daly City Protective Association and a longtime opponent of redevelopment, said her home was still in the center of the project area

"but the fight is now my own."

"On behalf of the Original Daly City Protective Association I want to thank you for your patience in this matter. It will be a happier Christmas for us now," Mrs. Matteucci said.

Mayor Giammona said the decision to break away from the residential area proved "we (the council) did listen. We did bend to the will of the people and that's why we took the action we did tonight."

Two other longtime critics of the council, which also acts as the city's Redevelopment Agency, praised officials and staff.

Rev. Hosey Spears, of the Second Baptist Church, volunteered to help the staff work towards revitalizing the deteriorating commercial strips in the eastern sector of Daly City.

The Rev. Hamilton, minister at the Calvary Hill Baptist Church, also commended the councilmen for their action.

Father Tom McElligott, of the Our Lady of Perpetual Help Church, asked if the redevelopment agency could leap frog around town and was told before such expansion could occur the matter must again be brought before the public in a series of hearings.

Pacifica Asks BART Station Bus Service

The Pacifica City Council Monday night voted to recommend that Western Greyhound Lines extend its service to provide Pacifica residents with transportation to the Daly City BART station.

However, they apparently agreed not to press the issue to the point where it may serve as an excuse for Greyhound to cut off its service to Pacifica altogether.

The issue had first been raised by the Ocean Park Manor Homeowners Assn., which had made the request for transportation to the BART station on the basis of convenience, ecology and to help Daly City deal with the parking strain.

Councilman Don Halverson, however, urged that the city-subsidized "Little Red Bus" be extended to serve BART.

Councilman Stan Farber, however, protested that since the city subsidizes the Little Red Bus, but does not subsidize Greyhound, it would be better to have Greyhound take the route. However, Councilwoman Grace McCarthy pointed out that Greyhound is not anxious to provide service to Pacifica.

Councilmen passed the resolution, directed at both Greyhound and the Public Utilities Commission 4-1, with Halverson dissenting. However, at Farber's request the council approved another resolution stating that should Greyhound and the PUC turn down the request, the city manager must determine the cost of extending the Little Red Bus to BART.

In addition, the Pacifica City Council took a number of actions in connection with extending their park system.

The Council, acting upon recommendation of the Parks, Beaches and Recreation Commission, agreed that Pacifica's share of the $250,000 bond act — to be voted upon in June, 1974 — would go for further extension of Frontierland Park. Farber, who had in the past opposed the park, made the motion, on the grounds that such action would involve no local tax revenues and that the park had already been started.

The council also adopted a strong resolution urging that the money be allocated strictly on the basis of population.

The council approved the PB&R recommendation for appointment of a Hiking and Riding Trail Ad Hoc Committee, composed of Fred Howard, Bob Hopper, Dan Maher, Carl McCarthy, Calvin Hinton and Bob Sumpter. Farber urged that a college graduate student be appointed to do the leg-work, rather than burden City Manager Dave Thompson with one more task.

Councilmen adopted a resolution formulating the San Pedro Creek Flood Abatement, composed of Elden D. Dellanina, James Harrison, Ralph A. Rogers, Connie Mason and Steven Walter. The ment Ad Hoc Committee, committee would work with the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers in development of a San Pedro Creek flood abatement program.

JESD Cuts Personnel Commissioners' Stipends

In a 3-0 vote, with one trustee abstaining, the Jefferson Elementary School District Board has cut off stipends for its personnel commissioners.

Trustee James Cranna, a former personnel commissioner before being elected to the district's board, did not vote on the issue.

Effective January 1974, the three-member Personnel Commission will not receive compensation for their time. They have been getting $15 a meeting.

Another motion, to pay school board members, also was rejected by the trustees. It would have given each member $20 per meeting — or a maximum of $120 monthly.

Chairwoman Dorothy Adams said she voted against the measure, "because while I feel a board member should be paid, anything less than $20,000 per year for the time spent in this post would be insufficient."

The newest member of the school board, David Parker, said he opposed the motion, because "I knew it was a non-paying job when I ran for it."

Mrs. Beverly Forrester, who claims she spends between $200-300 monthly in baby-sitting fees, eating out ("I have no time to cook and get to a meeting") and miscellaneous costs connected with the school board post, would rather have the money go toward hiring an additional teacher for the children, she said.

"And we still get reimbursed for expenses incurred in attending conferences," Mrs. Forrester said.

Acknowledging the job does cost money from his own pocket, Trustee James Cranna followed suit and voted down the motion.

'Numbers Game' Alerts Police

North San Mateo County police departments have been put on the alert to watch for the latest "numbers game" being played in their jurisdictions following complaints from numerous citizens.

A group calling itself Student Work Services, and purporting to be an agency dedicated to aiding local students who work their way through college, is circulating in the Daly City-Broadmoor-Colma area offering to paint house numbers on curbs.

What is frustrating city officials is the offer being made is hard to refuse — hard, because if you do not want the number painted on the curb a homeowner is supposed to go outside and tape the notice to the curbing as a signal to bypass the house.

This is not an easy feat inasmuch as the rain manages to wash away the paper bulletins, police said.

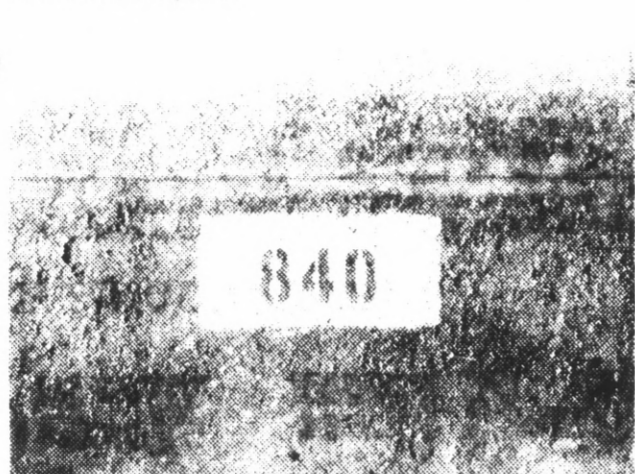

Police said they are on the lookout for the group.

They are operating without a city license or authorization, according to assistant to the Daly City City Manager Don Fleming.

Here is how the yellow mimeographed notice with black lettering reads:

"Tomorrow, new reflective house numbers are to be painted in front of all homes on your block. This is an important service... This community service will be done by students from local colleges who are working part time while attending school."

Police are asking residents to be on the alert for a new numbers game.

ONE number painted on the curb in the Broadmoor/Colma area.

After describing the type of lettering, the notice says the job is worth $2, "yet there is no fixed charge."

Instead, they ask for donations — "large or small" — and inform home occupant that a student will call "at your door" for the money.

Police Capt. Richard Sims said the address given on the bulletin is not occupied by the Students Work Services group and the phone number listed on the same notice is that of Sears, Roebuck and Company.

A spokesman for Sears said today they also have had numerous phone calls on the matter and have no affiliation whatever with the group.

Alario Is Named S.S.F. City Mgr.

Edward G. Alario, who has been acting city manager of South San Francisco since the resignation of Gale Dreisbach last June, was appointed to the post last week.

Mayor Warren Steinkamp announced, as the council returned from a personnel session at the conclusion of the regular meeting, that Alario was appointed by "majority decision."

Alario came to South San Francisco from San Jose, where he was president of Kinsal Inc. for 2½ years. This was a firm which provided computerized dunning service and operated the California Bureau of Collections.

Before that, he was revenue officer for the City of Sunnyvale for 7½ years. He was graduated from the University of Santa Clara with a certificate in management in 1967. He had received his bachelor of arts degree from San Jose State University, where he majored in business administration, in 1968.

He went to South San Francisco as director of finance and assistant city manager.

Alario is 39 years old, is married with six children, stands six feet, two inches tall and weighs 210 pounds.

His first task as permanent city manager will be to fill the unusually large number of vacant department and division posts.

Some of the posts have been vacant since city contracted with the VTN engineering firm to operate several city divisions. Other posts were created when Alario found himself faced with the task of drawing up the 1973-74 city budget and reorganizing the city bureaucracy following resignation of VTN.

For over a year, the city has had no director of parks and recreation, although Dick Milkovich has been acting director for several months. He held the same position for about 12 years in Sunnyvale.

Alario is concentrating on hiring a second administrative aide whose chief responsibility will be personnel.

With Alario's appointment, the director of finance post becomes vacant, as well as the director of administrative services department, which includes a number of city housekeeping functions.

Other vacancies include the director of the Public Services Department, plus four of the six divisions under it — zoning administrator, planner, building inspector and city engineer.

Flood Plan Delay Seen

A fresh delay loomed for the Colma Creek Flood Control District as a dispute arose over how high the water shall flow in the canal.

As a result, a public hearing on the preliminary flood control plan, which was to have been held in November or early December is being held over for at least a couple of weeks, and possibly as long as two months, according to City Manager Ed Alario.

Engineers for Wilsey & Ham — the firm that has been given the contract by the county to draw up final plans for the multi-million dollar project — are now drawing up various alternative plans for presentation to the Colma Creek Advisory Committee.

The change of plans was caught by Fred Hull, South San Francisco project manager for the VTN engineering firm, now acting as consultant for South San Francisco.

He noted that the new plans showed a four-foot rise in water surface in the Colma Creek which would wipe out every bridge crossing the canal, including the new Linden Avenue bridge under construction, as well as the three-year-old Airport Boulevard Bridge and the recently built Utah Avenue Bridge. Just rebuilding the new bridges, Alario points out, could add close to a million-and-a-half dollars to the cost of the project.

The problem involves the stability of bay mud — now the subject of one new study. Engineers feared the widening or excavation of the lower reaches of Colma Creek would weaken the banks and endanger nearby industrial plants. As a result, a plan was worked out for construction of steel flood walls alongside the creek, which would raise the surface of the water, according to county flood district engineer, Vic Sanders.

The Graying of Rep. Gerald Ford

Richard's surprise party was over, and Gerald Ford's nomination for Vice President was known to the world. Reaction was swift and universal.

Scene One
Ronald Nelson Connally sat back in a deep chair surrounded by his staff. The TV set has just been switched off.

"Well," said the candidate, "we have a new problem."

"Three years as Vice President — that's a lot of exposure."

"But Nixon has no clout left — he can't nominate anyone in '76."

"A new clean face may have a chance all on its own. Nixon can let the machinery move behind the scenes and never say a word in Ford's support."

"There is one practical way to hold him down."

"What is it?"

"Make him appear dull, slow and gray. He isn't really charismatic to begin with — and with a little help."

"AP wants a statement."

An aide handed the candidate a phone. "Oh yes," said Ronald Nelson Connally, "Mr. Ford is a fine choice. He is just the kind of steady reliable workhorse the country needs in this moment of emergency."

Scene Two
There in the center sat the Meany, looking at the TV set with loathing as the camera took a last glance at Richard Nixon clasping hands with Gerald Ford.

"Well, George, what do we do about this?"

"This is an insult to the American people. This guy Nixon wants to work in a house of mirrors."

"Yes, but Ford could just make it in '76."

"He's worse for us than Nixon. Nixon has Watergate hanging around his neck and as well as we know, Ford's clean."

"In other words, he's more of the same — but different. As of tonight, Ford has all of the Nixon assets and none of the liabilities."

"How do we handle him?"

The Meany sat back for a moment, then suddenly shouted, "There's only one attack that can work. Tell the boys that Ford is a follower, not a leader. Tell them he's stupid, and that's why Nixon wanted him. Only somebody stupid would want to face Congress as Nixon's man anyway. Lay it on."

Scene Three
It happened that the publishers of the nation's principal newspapers were gathered that night for an association meeting in Chicago. Away from the main hall, the biggest of the big had gathered for a quiet scotch and soda, and had watched the White House announcement on TV.

"A good choice."

"A master stroke. Ford is about the only man of stature who fits the President ideologically and has a chance to get through Congress."

"I agree, but it will sure raise hell with the other candidates."

Quiet descended over the gathering. Thoughtful faces, then frowns. The same thoughts raced around the room.

"My paper has a year of attention invested in John Connally."

"We've been pushing Percy," "Mondale," "Reagan," "Rockefeller," "Kennedy," "Humphrey," "Jackson."

"So we're all already involved. No endorsements, of course — just the old buildup."

"How are you going to handle it?"

"Paint him dull and gray."

"It'll work — the working press all have their own favorites, none of whom as of this moment is Ford."

Scene Four
Democratic Caucus.

"Well, how do we get at this guy?"

"He's clear of Watergate."

"He doesn't take."

"He's steady and sound."

"Yes — but he can be made to appear drab. Nowadays that's the one characteristic that won't sell."

"Let's sell it that way."

Scene Five
Late that night, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Ford sat in their living room before going to bed.

"Well," said the nominee, "I'm in for it now."

"With Congress? Why you've been part of it for 25 years."

"This will be like nothing we've seen before. Most of our members — and on the Senate side too — are either running for President, strongly supporting, or leaning toward a candidate. I'm a new problem they would like to have go away. Not only that, the Nixon haters will think they can hurt him by attacking me."

"How are you going to handle it?"

"Several of the fellows suggested tonight that I announce non-candidacy as soon as possible. That seems wise counsel."

"But everyone knows such commitments aren't binding, and are honored more in the breach."

"What else can I do?"

"Well, you're not exactly a movie star type to begin with — there seems only one course."

"What is it?"

"Well — dear."

"What?"

"Until you have taken the oath of office, you'll have to be."

"What?"

"Dull, drab and gray."

Pacifica Pier

Fishing Derby Winners Announced

Pacifica's future as an ocean fishing center for the Bay Area seemed assured last week, as opening of its 1,060-foot Sharp Park fishing pier continued to draw daily crowds of fishermen — of all ages.

Winners of the first annual fishing derby held at the pier were announced by Recreation Division Administrative Assistant Walter Kohnert.

Some 300 persons entered the derby Nov. 17, while another 700 just strolled around the pier, during the intermittent rainfall. The pier was not over-crowded.

Biggest fish caught was a four-pound leopard shark, reeled in by Dennis Niebuhr, 645 Cedar Ave., San Bruno, followed by a 41-ounce flounder, caught by Hilliard Sims of 872 Lasuanna St., Daly City. The two men won first and second place trophies in the adult division.

Other winners were:
Junior Division (6-9 years old): First, Rene LaForge, 509 Loma Terrace, 13-pound perch; second, David Navarro, 225 Verona Ave., Pacifica, 8-ounce smelt.

Junior Teen Division (10-13 years): First, Eric Lindstrom, 20-ounce skate; second, Pete McGrath, 2530 Olympic Dr., South San Francisco, 18-ounce perch. Teen Division (14-19 years): First, Mike Kent, 127 Hilton Lane, Pacifica, 18-ounce catfish; second, Steve Bode, 127 Hilton Lane Pacifica, 17-ounce perch.

Strangely enough, no trophies were claimed in the senior division, 60 years and older.

The next fishing derby, Kohnert promised, would be held in a sunnier time of the year.

After a malfunction opening day, the lights for the concrete pier have been burning day and night, despite protests to City Hall over energy waste. Lights will be turned off during days when city workers are satisfied that they are working all right.

Some $2,000 worth of vandalism was inflicted on opening day, under cover of darkness, but City Mgr. Dave Thompson believes that the combination of lights and police checks will reduce vandalism.

The pier thus offers 24-hour a day fishing. It includes benches, strollers, and fish-cleaning tables. A bait and refreshment shop, at the foot of the pier, will be open on Dec. 1.

Elmo J. De Deaux, who will operate the shop, advises that the most common kind of fish to be found will be jack smelt, perch, kingfish (croaker), cabezon, flounder, habibut, shark, eels, crabs, and California skate (small stingrays). In addition, from June to October, striped bass and salmon can be found.

De Deaux recommends live bait, such as pile worms and shrimp, as well as frozen bait, such as abalone, sardines, anchovies, squid and shrimp.

Since there is a 30-foot drop from the pier, fishermen should use a minimum of a 20-pound line, he advised.

Best news to those who are infrequent fishermen is that no license is required to fish at the pier, since it is a municipal pier.

Terra Nova Students Get Choice of School Rings

Terra Novans will have several choices of school rings this fall, instead of the traditional one ring for the whole school.

Last year and in past years, everyone in the school had the same style ring with different birthstones. This fall, students may choose from three different styles.

A new concept developed this year by the Executive Board is the individual class rings. Each class will have a unique ring strictly its own and which only members of that class can buy. Each class will design its own ring. These will be available in the spring.

Another alternative will be to buy the ring featuring the new school crest which will be inscribed on the ring. The crest consists of a tiger sprawled on huge arches like the ones in front of the school. Beneath the arches sunlight shines through with hills in the background. These may be ordered next month.

The third choice will be for students who prefer the old ring with the standard crest. They will be available as usual, with the various birthstones, cut or smoothed and will be on sale at approximately the same price as sold last spring.

Growing Older Workshop Scheduled

A workshop entitled "People in Partnership — Growing Older in North County" scheduled Dec. 8 from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. at Jefferson High School, 6996 Mission St., Daly City, will focus on how to get services older citizens especially need.

The keynote speaker will be William T. Baird, Coordinator of the California Legislative Council for Older Americans. Co-chairing the workshop are Karen Norton and Dr. Rudie Tretten of the North County Citizens Advisory Committee.

The workshop is divided into five groups. The group coordinators are as follows: Bette Myerson — transportation in North County; Peg Bunting — how to get what is needed, financially, legally and politically; Pat Scott — how seniors feel about growing old, independence, money and how their families handle these problems; Louis Crane — recreation and education opportunities; Rae Levesque — involvement in senior programs.

Steve Graham, from the San Mateo Commission on Aging will be present with others of his staff to hear and report to the County on what services are not adequate or not provided for at all.

This workshop is designed for young and middle-aged persons, who are curious or fearful of aging, as well as for senior citizens. There will be translators available if needed.

Free transportation will be provided to anyone who calls 992-5600 and leaves a name, address and phone number. Lunch will be served without cost.

Find Man Dead On DC Street

David J. Ratti, 33, a San Francisco fork-lift operator, was found dead in his car parked in the 400 block of South Hill Boulevard in Daly City yesterday — the apparent victim of an overdose of narcotics, the coroner's office reported today.

According to Coroner's

Investigator Don Wyman, neighbors reported seeing the car parked there for three or four days. Ratti was lying on the front seat with a narcotics kit in his hand and a fresh needle mark on his arm. Wyman reported. An empty balloon was found in the car.

Intensive investigation by the San Bruno Police Department last weekend led to the arrest of former San Bruno Larry Gene Rutherford, 20, in connection with four Peninsula robberies — two in San Bruno and two in San Mateo.

Rutherford, who was recently released from the Stockton California Youth Authority facility after serving nearly three years for a San Francisco slaying, used a 30-30 rifle taken in one robbery to pull off three other heists, police said.

Rutherford served time for the shooting death of Allan W. Daly, a systems designer for the then strike-bound Marin County San Rafael Independent Journal newspaper.

The incident occurred in Daly's home on July 4, 1970. Rutherford was released from the CYA facility in March and put on five years' probation, police said.

According to police, Rutherford, unemployed, was involved in an Oct. 31 robbery of the El Patio Motel in San Bruno in which the rifle, valued at $94.50, and other property was taken.

Then on Nov. 11 there were two robberies in San Mateo. One was of a National Convenience Store at 91 West 37th St. in which about $70 was taken. The other was of a 7-11 Market at 11 Laurie Meadows in which about $80 was taken, police said.

Both robberies, according to police, involved a bandit wearing a nylon stocking over his head and wielding a sawed-off gun.

The fourth robbery happened in San Bruno at Alfred Alef Foods, 1019 San Mateo Ave. Again the robber was described as wearing the mask and carrying what was described as a sawed-off shotgun. Taken was about $123.

As it turned out, after police arrested Rutherford, with the aid of San Francisco officers, at his 43 Allison St. address in San Francisco, the weapon used was a 30-30 rifle, not a shotgun.

Police confiscated the rifle, along with numerous shells. Both the barrel and the butt of the rifle had been sawed off, making the weapon less than two-feet long.

Program #462

How to Play and WIN PRIZES:

Pick up your FREE game folder at our store today—and then

Each time you visit one of our stores participating in this Program, you will receive ABSOLUTELY FREE—one BONUS BINGO game piece bearing a "wash-off" patch on the front which conceals the identity of one of the 8 games in your game folder to which THAT game piece applies and the NUMBER and LETTER of the specific BOX you can score on THAT game in your folder.

Follow instructions on back of game piece to reveal game and box specified on game piece. Locate that game on your folder and mark an X in the box specified to indicate receipt of THAT game piece. Hold, but DO NOT PASTE GAME PIECE IN YOUR FOLDER. Game pieces may ONLY be applied to the GAME and BOX specified. ALL BOXES pre-printed with an X on your game folder are FREE BOXES and count as "scored" to HELP YOU WIN. No game piece will be issued or required for these FREE BOXES. All game folders for this program are identical. One folder is all you will need in order to play all 8 games during the entire Program.

YOU WIN the dollar amount shown for any game just by scoring any 5 boxes in a straight line on THAT game (EITHER HORIZONTAL, VERTICAL or DIAGONAL) using any combination of FREE BOXES and game pieces.

TO CLAIM YOUR PRIZE just submit to our Store Manager ONLY those game pieces which helped you score 5 boxes in a straight line on any one game and sign them in his presence. When game pieces submitted score "bingo" on more than one line, only one prize will be awarded. All winning game pieces are subject to our verification procedure before payment of cash prizes.

Keep your game folder and all your other game pieces and continue playing this Program. YOU ARE NOT LIMITED IN THE NUMBER OF TIMES YOU CAN WIN.

IMPORTANT: No illegible, altered, torn or mutilated game pieces will be accepted. We reserve the right to correct any typographical or mechanical error which might appear in any printed matter, including but not limited to game folders and game pieces used in conjunction with this program. We reserve the right to reject as invalid any game piece containing any printing error and any game piece not obtained through legitimate channels.

Only one game piece will be given per store visit to ADULTS ONLY. Game pieces may be obtained FREE—NO PURCHASE REQUIRED, at the Store Manager's office or either end of any checkout counter, or by writing to P.O. Box 2256, Terminal Annex, Los Angeles, Calif. 90051. Only one game piece and game folder may be requested per envelope. Our employees and their immediate families and the immediate families of Strategic Merchandising Corp. are ineligible to participate in this Program.

Only game folders and game pieces bearing the Program #462 are applicable to the game in this Program. Scheduled termination date of this Program is February 23, 1974. Game terminates with distribution of all game pieces and all prizes must be claimed within ten (10) days following termination announcement to be eligible for payment.

Kids Tell Objects of Their Thanks

By FRANK LAPIERRE
Children have a way of simplifying matters and making them easier for adults to understand.

A teacher at Daniel Webster School in Daly City asked her second-grade class what Thanksgiving meant to them — why they were thankful for the day.

The answers given to Joan Bent by the 6- and 7-year-old pupils were eye-openers.

Many were thankful concerning home and hearth.

"I am thankful I have a home to live in. It is warm when it is cold and dark outside," Marcel De Guzman.

"I am thankful for furniture to sit on. The Pilgrims didn't have much furniture and the children had to stand up most of the time," Freddy Engelhard.

"I am thankful there are stores to buy things in," Kevin Cobb.

And while Percy Stingley was "thankful for forks and spoons" because "the Pilgrims didn't have any and had to use clamshells and their hands to eat with," Karen Carberry was thankful "there are doctors to take care of me when I am sick and clocks to tell time. Most of all I like love because you can't lose it."

Some children were thankful for their pets.

"I am thankful for my parakeet. I am thankful for love. I am thankful for money so I can buy things," Yvonne Sanchez.

"I am thankful I have a dog to play with when I come home from school," Craig Costantino.

"I am thankful for my cat because I love him and he loves me," Julie Baccell.

"I am thankful for zoos," Henry Mijares.

Even plants got honorable mention by the children.

Marcy Willis was thankful for plants "especially . . . carrots and squash that make me healthy."

Health appeared to be big with the children.

One girl, Tricia Vaccaro, was thankful she had a bike.

"It gets me places and makes me healthy. My brother has a bike and he is healthy, too," Tricia said.

In a more modern vein Michael Sosa was thankful for cars "because we wouldn't be able to get many places without them."

Jackie Ghio said without boats the Pilgrims couldn't have crossed the ocean "so I am thankful for boats."

Lori Zickerman said she was thankful "the Indians were here to help the Pilgrims when they first came here."

Rev Seligson summed it all up by noting, "I am thankful I have hands. I wouldn't be able to carry things or write if I didn't have hands."

South San Francisco Barrier Plan Draws Mixed Response

By JACK BIK
Staff Writer

Should a raised barrier be installed down the middle of Chestnut Avenue in South San Francisco in order to prevent left turns in and out of the new Chestnut Shopping Center?

A public hearing on this question was continued to the next City Council meeting at the request of Councilman Bill Borba, Nov. 19.

"Don't we have a big enough mess there?" Councilman Pat Ahern asked Director of Public Services Hugo Stoppoloni. "Who suggested this as an improvement?"

Police Officer Frank Brown said in a short period, 12 accidents had occurred in the area owing to left-turn movements. Thus, banning left turns could eliminate a chance of accident.

Brown explained that the object is to take traffic off Chestnut — which already has more than it can handle for its two lanes — and have all cars enter and leave the new shopping center via Antoinette Lane. Left turns could then be made at the intersection of Antoinette and Chestnut, where there is already a traffic signal.

In another traffic safety move, councilmen approved 4-0 installation of a signal arm where a spur track of Southern Pacific crosses Orange Avenue.

Although only one or two trains a day pass by, it appears that the proximity of the Boys Club, Orange Avenue Park, and two schools made this a high priority site. The $19,200 signal will be paid half by the Southern Pacific, a quarter by the State Public Utilities Commission and a quarter by the city.

Councilmen also awarded a $10,458 contract to the American la France Co. for conversion of the city's quarter-century old aerial truck from a gasoline to a diesel engine.

The City Council approved a resolution authorizing a call for bids to replace 43 weather-worn wood frame windows with aluminum windows. Alario assured the council that the windows would be anodized and aesthetic, in keeping with the traditional appearance of the historic city hall. The new windows would also match the new lowered ceiling.

The Council also agreed to a joint use and development agreement with the South San Francisco Unified School District.

Replacing the agreement, which expires this month, will be two agreements, which the Park and Recreation Commission felt provided idied a more flexible arrangement.

Acting Park and Recreation Director Dick Milkovich explained that one of the new pacts, a Joint Use Agreement, merely continues the present arrangement under which the Recreation Division uses school facilities for its programs — and the schools district agree each year to a program for joint development of some school or park land, under a policy under which park sites would be acquired next to school sites, whenever possible.

"The fact that a piece of ground can sit and not be used is ridiculous!" commented Councilman Pat Ahern as he successfully urged approval of the pact.

Councilman Bill Borba proposed appointing a city employee to the Personnel Board, and Councilman Terry Mirri enthusiastically supported the idea. Alario replied that he was already working on such a reorganization of the Personnel Board. He said that some cities with such a system have three-man boards: South San Francisco has five men.

The question of undefined problems with the Referral and Information Center was also discussed last night.

"I suggest that we take a good hard look at the Referral Center before we release any money to them," Borba said.

Alario replied he has already conferred with two members of the staff. "I think it's a lack of direction," he explained.

The acting city manager added that the Office of Employment Opportunity is investigating the situation.

Stranger Terrorizes San Bruno Secretary

Pacifica police are investigating a mysterious case in which a 26-year-old San Bruno secretary is being tormented by a complete stranger.

According to police, Ella M. Schael walked out of her front door Sunday night, and a man pointed a blue steel revolver at her, declaring, "You'll never see Mike again."

She jumped into her car, and fled down the Coast Highway at 85 miles an hour, as the man pursued her, finally rendezvousing with her husband, Mike, at a Pacifica bar, police said.

Mrs. Schael told police that for the past two to three months, the man had been telephoning her at home and at her place of employment, a San Bruno auto dealership, threatening to kill her or her family.

He once caught her outside her home and struck her several times before she could escape, she told police. He has also followed her numerous times, police said.

The mystery man was described as six feet, five inches, 30 to 40 years of age, clean-shaven, blond and usually neatly dressed.

First Aid Class Set

Golden Gate Chapter of the Red Cross will offer a Multi-Media Standard First Aid Class Dec. 8 at the Westlake Park Clubhouse, 149 Lake Merced Blvd., from 8:30 a.m.-5:00 p.m.

The Multi-Media course is based on the contents of the regular 10-hour Standard First Aid course, but can be completed in one eight-hour working day.

Pre-registration is advised by calling either the Daly City Recreation, Parks and Maintenance Department at 992-5356 or Golden Gate Chapter — Red Cross at 776-1500, Ext. 331.

Students are asked to bring a lunch, and to dress comfortably in long slacks. Instruction is free, but for workbook and materials, there is a $5 charge.

Parking Surcharge Stirring County Opposition

By BOB PETERSON

In the old West, horse stealing was a hanging offense.

The horse was sacred. The cowboy had his means of transportation, and he had the run of the land. He was content.

When industrialization turned the horse into an automobile, the cowboy moved from the saddle to the driver's seat; and he cruised about willy-nilly at the fill up of a tank. Still content.

That contentment, however, has been shaken.

The energy crisis is one reason. But many feel the gas shortage is temporary. It's a game the oil companies are playing, say the critics.

What is really stirring the adrenalin are awesome implications of some new anti-smog regulations put out by the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA).

Of particular concern is the provision pertaining to the imposition of fees and surcharges on vehicle parking.

Revenue raised from the various parking fees and surcharges would be earmarked for rapid transit planning, and in the plan is to hopefully curb automobile use to achieve smog-free air, are being drawn.

John Tolan, a deputy mayor for development in San Francisco, said that with the implementation of these regulations "you would have an administered economy on a level never before contemplated in this country."

Tolan's comment was some of the strongest of the initial views expressed about the 1135-page book of regulations.

Lest Peninsula residents become complacent, in that the initial phases of the new rules apply to cities of 100,000 population, it should be pointed out that the policy will include the entire Bay Area by 1976.

This was confirmed by Lou Jefferson, spokesman for the San Francisco office of EPA. Jefferson said his office has received a lot of questions, and some criticism, on the plan, but he feels the regulations are being dwarfed by the emerging energy crisis.

And although the restrictions aimed specifically at the individual automobile driver, the immediate effect will be on the businessman, who will be faced with the necessity of piling more costs on the consumer.

Here are some of the regulations that are scheduled to go into effect July 1, 1974, in cities of 100,000 or more population, and presumably for all cities after July 1, 1976.

A 10-cent-an-hour surcharge is to be imposed on all commercial parking spaces between the hours of 7 a.m. and 7 p.m., except for weekends and holidays. It increases to 25-cents-an-hour by July of 1976.

There is to be a $180-a-year surcharge on all parking stalls where the owner provides more than five free customer parking spaces. By 1976 the figure is to be $450-a-year.

Employers with more than 50 workers will be required to give their employees up to $200 a year for rapid transit use.

While San Francisco screams of the EPA's "totally coercive and punitive measures," as one editorial put it, the voices on the Peninsula have been relatively quiet, mainly because most have not had an opportunity to study the regulations.

The immediate reaction of most who have a general knowledge of the proposal was much like the one-word reply of South San Francisco Chamber of Commerce Manager Les Davis.

"Ridiculous," he said.

Take the Industrial City's shopping center neighbors — San Bruno with its Tanforan and Daly City and its Serramonte Center — and you'll find some expanded comments.

"The thing that concerns me," said Jerry Chandler, manager of the San Bruno Chamber of Commerce, "is that it's effectively going to mean that the EPA will have the power to control land use in a round-about way."

Daly City Planner John Walker said that the EPA act "if well intentioned, is not well thought out." He said he didn't disagree with the necessity for a rapid transit system.

"I don't believe that it (the ruling) will significantly reduce the number of vehicle trips," said Walker.

"People will just assume the additional cost. They've done so in the past. People apparently feel that automobile transportation is very important to them. Many are willing to pay more for that than they are for shelter or food," he said.

Greater Daly City Chamber of Commerce Manager Pete Markovich says simply that "something like this will be driving a lot of businesses out of existence."

Chandler says it's an over-reaction to air quality control. "The people need to realize it's fine and good to have clean air," said Chandler. "But they are the ultimate payer. If Tanforan gets taxed for parking, the merchant will turn around and tack it on to the consumer."

"There's just so many ramifications it's almost incredible to realize the scope of it unless you list all the things it's going to affect and how it's going to change our way of life," said Chandler.

San Bruno City Land Use Commission already has a significant effect on diminishing home rule in San Bruno," he said. "Now here's something much worse."

San Bruno City Planner

Jack Mulqueeney shares Chandler's fear about indirect control of land use.

"The Airport Land Use Commission already has a significant effect on diminishing home rule in San Bruno," he said. "Now here's something much worse."

"I sometimes wonder if there's not a bunch of whiz kids right out of college, who don't realize how things really work, who are putting things like this together," said Mulqueeney.

"They haven't thought about the economic ramifications to marginal firms or apartments, or any other use. There's something basically wrong with their thoughts."

EPA May Benefit Pacifica

The controversial Environmental Protection Agency regulations on surcharge parking may help rather than hinder the coastal community of Pacifica.

With two major regional shopping centers within 15 minutes drive, and a population that won't support a major center itself, Pacifica is resigned to its industrial fate — that of becoming a major recreational area.

A major traffic generator, notably Interstate 380 through Crestmoor Canyon over the hill from San Bruno, has been sought and fought for to a standstill — at least until now.

Pacifica, it seems, will always be dependent on the automobile or bus transportation.

"Over here in Pacifica we'll never get a BART," says Chamber of Commerce Manager Tom Sawyer.

"Trying to improve our economy by bringing in big business and create more jobs, we're stuck between a rock and hard place."

On the one hand that's the way it stands now. Lack of adequate roads in and out of the community keep business firms away, and therefore there is little chance for a solid economic tax base.

But with that kind of isolation, a new fishing pier and an EPA edict which mandates a rapid transit system that would have to include a leg into Pacifica, the industry of recreation can only be enhanced.

In addition, restrictions on travel will affect recreation habits.

The new Schick Flexamatic is the one with rechargeable feature. Flexible shaving head has 34 blades for a cleaner shave.

Marriage Book By CSM Teacher

If textbooks were included on best seller lists, a book on marriage by Dr. Lloyd O. Saxton of the College of San Mateo would make the top ten with comparative ease. Dr. Saxton's "The Individual, Marriage and the Family," has sold thousands of copies in foreign countries since it was first published in 1968 — and is being used by more than half of the colleges and universities in this country offering the course, including many Catholic and denominational schools. Recently, Dr. Saxton learned, the book was being picked up by many foreign libraries and placed on their shelves.

Dr. Saxton, a member of the CSM Social Science Division faculty since 1955, decided to write the book because he was dissatisfied with the texts available when he first began teaching a marriage course.

Like the legendary figure who was admonished, under somewhat similar circumstances, to "build a better mouse trap," Dr. Saxton took a three-year leave of absence from CSM and did just that, figuratively.

Attempting to explain the phenomenal success of the book, acknowledged to be the leading text in an overcrowded field of some 150 books, Dr. Saxton said, objectively:

"I tried to write the best possible course material. I tried to make it functional and a book that reflected the sweeping cultural changes that have taken place in this country since the 1960's. I feel gratified about its acceptance, naturally. It's exciting."

A second edition was published recently, with few changes from the original, such as combining chapters on "Dating" and "Marriage."

The book's no-nonsense approach to marriage and the family is underscored in these opening paragraphs:

"After a decade of experience," Dr. Saxton wrote, "in teaching a marriage and family course at CSM and in counseling troubled families, I began to see a pattern of the marital problems in our mass society. The 'before' and 'after' pictures were not following the traditional sequence of beauty salon advertisement."

The students looked upon marriage with breathless, romantic ideals. I determined that despite the obsession in our society with examining and then idealizing love, sex and all male-female relationships, young people are not being adequately prepared for the intelligence, the altruism, and the sensitivity and the labor that must be ever-present if marital and familiar inter-action is to be fulfilling and successful."

Foster City Srs. Elect

New officers have been elected for the year by the Foster City Fifty-Five Plus Club.

Bea Mason is the new president; Blanche Stiller vice president; Bessie Bell secretary; and John Lincoln treasurer. They will take office the first week of January.

The club meets Tuesdays from 1 to 3:30 p.m. at the Foster City civic center and is sponsored by the city parks and recreation department. It is open to all residents 55 years old and over.

'Coat-Hanger' Thief Sought

Sheriff's deputies today are searching for the apparent "coat hanger" burglar who "ripped off" items from seven cars at an apartment complex at 1887 Woodside Road in Redwood City Saturday night or early Sunday. In five of the seven break-ins, a coat hanger apparently was used. Losses totaled $650.

ROBERT P. RITZ of Belmont, a special agent for the San Francisco agency of the Prudential Insurance Co., has marked his 20th anniversary with the firm. He has been in S.F. since 1953.

Cayce Son Will Speak At Canada

An investigator of psychic phenomena who lectured to an overflow audience at Canada College last spring will make a return engagement on Dec. 4.

Hugh Lynn Cayce, son of the famous clairvoyant Edgar Cayce, will speak in Main Theater, 8 p.m., on the topic "Healing and the Whole Person."

His lecture, in which he uses readings from his late father, will focus on the need for balance between body, mind, emotions and spiritual aspirations.

Cayce is a strong exponent of individual use of meditation and dreams for personal development. He believes all individuals have psychic capacities that can grow if nurtured.

As president of the Association of Research and Enlightenment, a psychical research center in Virginia Beach, Virginia, he has catalogued and studied psychic data accumulated from the more than 14,000 readings given by his father. He is author of "Venture Inward," a book based on 30 years observation of his father's work and his own lecturing and counseling experiences. Tickets may be purchased at the campus box office located in the Fine Arts Building from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. daily, Monday through Friday.

Business Notes

Envirotech Corp. of Menlo Park said it has canceled plans to register a proposed public offering of one million shares of common stock because of "unstable market conditions." Most of the stock would have been sold by shareholders.

Kintetsu World Express Inc. has leased 12,000 square feet of office and warehouse space in the South San Francisco Office Industrial Park. Kintetsu offers general air cargo services.

George G. Caulfield has been named vice president-public relations of Wells Fargo & Co. and its principal subsidiary, Wells Fargo Bank. He was director of corporate communications for URS Systems Corp., San Mateo, from 1966-69.

Dr. A. T. Stewart of Woodside has been named manager of the resources development group in Bechtel Corporation's scientific development organization. He was chief scientist in the operation.

Granger Associates of Menlo Park said it has made the initial delivery of microwave radio systems to the East Africa community telephone system under a $400,000 contract. Deliveries will be completed early next year.

Paul F. Lammers of Portola Valley has been appointed regional representative in the Daly City office of Cavanagh Leasing Corp. He was formerly a vice president of Equipment Finance and Management Co., San Francisco.

Security Title Insurance Co., with four offices in San Mateo County, has changed its name to SAFECO Title Insurance Co. Security Title has been a wholly owned subsidiary of SAFECO since 1964.

EDWARD E. SMITH of Menlo Park has been promoted to vice president in Crocker Bank's international division. Formerly an assistant vice president, he has been with Crocker since 1970.

Bob Foster NON-PROFESSIONALS ADVISE ON TV NEWS

Frank N. Magid is a former college professor of sociology at the University of Iowa, Philip McHugh and Peter Hoffman were formerly advertising people with Campbell-Ewald of New York, and Melvin Goldberg headed research for Westinghouse Broadcasting and the National Association of Broadcasters.

Not one of these men has ever had any experience in news, any kind of news. Not one of the four has ever worked on a newspaper or in a radio or television news operation. Despite this complete lack of news background, these four men are assuming a stranglehold grip on the nation's television news operations.

They call themselves consultants to radio and television news operations. This is OK, I guess, because one calls himself anything he wants to. However, what is wrong is that they received big hunks of dough from various television and radio stations around the nation.

All four play a very important role in what kind of news you get to see on the air. They move into a city at a rather handsome price and conduct a "survey" to see what the public might like in the way of news. According to Edward W. Barrett, writing in the most recent issues of the "Columbia Journalism Review," all of these "experts" recommend injecting "flair," "rapport" and "informality" in the news. The idea of giving the public the news that it "wants" goes against all the precepts of journalism. News is news. Nobody should decide what news will be seen or heard or written except the incidents that make the news. To cater to what the "public wants" is not serving the public by any stretch of the imagination.

The Frank N. Magid company of Iowa, which is currently advising KRON-TV, usually makes its recommendations and usually comes up with a "new name" for the show called "The World Tonight." McHugh and Hoffman like such names as "Eyewitness News" or "The Scene Tonight." Both titles are currently being used locally.

McHugh once told Les Brown of Variety that he and his firm apply the same kind of research that went into the success of "Bonanza." McHugh and Hoffman are the people who did the consulting to KGO television, and according to an assistant news director the station is happy with the outfit. Talking with the professionals in the KGO news department, however, it is a different story. Talk with some of the reporters, writers and cameramen who have been around the business a long time. You get an entirely different story. They as a group don't like the "informal and chummy" approach to the news.

According to the Journalism Review these consultants "serve two clients by finagling one shift in personnel."

"The system works this way," the magazine said. "In consulting for station WWW, Magid, for example, notes that the opposition station has a popular newscaster. Later, while advising station YYY in another city, the consultants urge hiring of that newscaster. Presto! Client YYY gains an appeal because its opposition has lost a mainstay."

There is a lot more to the local news story, for the whole picture is in a state of flux. There could be more changes any day. The only station which seems stable, for the moment, is KGO-TV. A falling off in the ratings there could cause consternation at the Golden Gate Avenue operation.

From time to time we'll check on the local television news scene. It is becoming most interesting.

THE LATEST RATINGS ARE out and it looks like "The Blue Knight" didn't do too well. As we mentioned previously the competition was tough, but the four episodes did fairly well. A repeat in another form might just pull it off.

"The Waltons," which has climbed from the low thirties in the ratings last year, this time missed being number one by only a fraction. Here are the ratings as released yesterday by A.C. Nielsen:

1 — Sanford and Son (NBC); 2 — The Waltons' Thanksgiving (CBS); 3 — All in the Family (CBS); 4 — CBS Friday Movie "Escape From the Planet of the Apes" (CBS); 5 — ABC Sunday Movie "The Hospital" (ABC); 6 — ABC Tuesday Movie (ABC); 7 — ABC Wednesday Movie "Trapped" (ABC); 8 — Maude (CBS); 9 — MASH (CBS); 10 — The Rookies (ABC); 11 — Bob Newhart Show (CBS); 12 — Mary Tyler Moore Show (CBS); 13 — ABC Wednesday Night Movie "Brian's Song" (ABC); 14 — World of Disney (NBC); 15 — Gunsmoke (CBS); 16 — Bob Hope Special (NBC); 17 — ABC Monday Night Football; 18 — Sonny and Cher (CBS); 19 — Odd Couple (ABC); 20 — Cannon (CBS); 21 — Hawaii Five-O; 22 — Snoopy Directs the Ice Follies (NBC); 23 — Dinah Shore Special (NBC); 24 — The FBI (ABC); 25 — Carol Burnett (CBS); 26 — Thanksgiving Treasure (ABC); 27 — Streets of San Francisco (ABC); 28 — Adam 12 (NBC); 29 — Frank Sinatra Special (ABC); 30 — Emergency (NBC).

Menlan to Head SPE Fraternity

Bruce H. Hasenkamp, a lawyer from Menlo Park and former Assistant Dean of the Stanford Law School, was elected to the National Board of Directors of Sigma Phi Epsilon Fraternity at its national convention of over 450 delegates that just ended in Denver. He and his wife, Ina, live at 24 Linaria Way in Menlo Park.

Hasenkamp, who just completed a two-year term as chairman of the national fraternity's Leadership, Education and Development Committee, has been involved in fraternity alumni volunteer work since 1960. He has been a chapter counselor and alumni board president for the San Jose State University chapter and has served as a District Governor in New York, New Jersey, and northern California. Hasenkamp served on the Stanford Law School Board of Visitors and is active in civic and political affairs. He is a member of the Boy Scouts' Executive Board in San Mateo County, a trustee of the San Mateo County Suicide Prevention Center, a director of the Constitutional Rights Foundation, and a member of the Menlo Park Rotary Club. He is First Assistant Secretary of the Republican State Central Committee of California, a member of the Executive Committee of the San Mateo County Republican Central Committee.

Louanne Heath

With Thanksgiving still a vivid memory, and the major holiday season just ahead, it isn't too strange that many organizations are taking advantage of this week to observe a lull in activity and gather energy for the frantic days ahead!

After a little more than a week of dieting — following that annual Thanksgiving "spread" — the women of the Riordan Guild and the member of the Marianist Assistance fund program felt that people might be in the mood to begin celebrating the approach of Christmas with a Holiday Boutique and a Wine Festival.

Sunday, between 11 a.m. and 6 p.m. the Guild and the Marianist Brothers will cooperate in a day of activities to help everyone get "into the holiday spirit." When the doors of Chaminade Hall open at 11 a.m. the guild will welcome guests to the annual Christmas boutique featuring Christmas gifts and ornaments, an extensive "green thumb" corner and a white elephant sale.

MRS. CARLA Cirelli is the boutique's general chairman, and she is justly proud of the assortment of needlepoint items, hand knit pieces and unique surprises that committee has assembled for the sale. Some of the arts and crafts items that will be offered at bargain prices are "originals" that may be the sort of things you are looking for to stuff socks or have on hand for unexpected guests.

Then, when everyone has had sufficient time to shop, the Marianist Brothers will invite everyone to attend their wine festival at 2 p.m. Select California wines and cheeses from the Marin French Cheese company will be served in the hall at 175 Phelan Ave., in San Francisco.

All proceeds from the afternoon events will go to the Educational Development Program at Riordan High School and to the Marianist Fund, according to Mrs. John Balogna, publicity chairman for the guild.

THE FOREST Hill Club house will be the site of the annual Christmas Party for members of the Mary's Help Hospital Guild and their spouses and friends Dec. 7, according to Mrs. Jerry Stringer, publicity chairman for the guild.

Mrs. Frank Lawson and Mrs. Frank Falconi are accepting checks for reservations.

COOKIES, Candy and Boutique items will be sold by the Westlake Catholic Women during their annual pre-holiday bake goods sale and Christmas Boutique.

Mrs. Joseph Potter and Mrs. Robert Rickert are the co-chairmen of the boutique portion of the event while Mrs. Robert Brizuela and Mrs. Joseph Rubino are chairing the cookie-candy sale part of the Dec. 8 and 9 "happening."

According to Mrs. Adele Schou, publicity chairman for the Westlake Catholic Women, the sale will begin after the 5:30 p.m. mass Dec. 8 and continue after all masses Dec. 9. In addition to salesladies, Santa Claus will offer assistance and encouragement to youthful shoppers.

The sale will be held in the parish hall, 7 Elmwood Dr., Daly City. All proceeds from the sale are pledged to the parish school.

FOLLOWING fast on the heels of a successful Day at the Races, the board of the Balboa Alumni Association has announced that a second Day at the Races has been scheduled Dec. 9.

The time to order tickets is now, and the lady to contact is Mrs. Catherine Porter, 586-5213. The upcoming event will start at 11:30 a.m. when the doors to the Bay Meadows race track are opened. Alumni members and their friends will gather in the Turf Club for a buffet luncheon at noon and then watch the thoroughbred races from the Turf Club Terrace.

Tickets are being sold for $8.50 per person and that price will include admission to the track, lunch and reserved seating on the terrace. Checks, with self-addressed envelopes, may be sent to the Balboa Alumni Association office, 1000 Cayuga St., San Francisco 94112.

THERE IS STILL plenty of time to volunteer to be a part of one of this area's largest Christmas parties.

Helpers of all kinds, contributions of any type, and wrapped presents for boys or girls between the ages of two and 11 years are some of the needs still to be filled if the annual Holy Angels Latin Club Christmas party for the Children of Colma and Daly City is to be a success.

According to Mrs. Nemer Gonzalez of the Latin Club, the community party is for all children and extends across all ethnic and religious bounds hence, hopefully, the where with all to present the party will come from all segments of the community.

Anyone who would like to play a part in this festive event which will be staged Dec. 15, between 2 and 4 p.m. in the parish hall of Holy Angels Catholic Church on San Pedro Road in Colma, is urged to contact Mrs. Beatriz zamudia, 992-5979, or Mrs. Gonzalez, 992-3591, immediately.

Papan Has Solution To The Energy Crisis

As a solution to the energy crisis, Assemblyman Louis J. Papan last week suggested that the possibility of a four-day work week be explored for all Californians.

In letters to Governor Reagan and Lt. Gov. Ed Reinecke, Papan stated, "In view of President Nixon's recent recommendations for conservation of energy resources, I believe that a shorter work week may cut down on usage of scarce fuels."

Papan advised that the impact of additional leisure time on energy usage would also have to be studied to ensure that use would not increase.

"We must examine all possible alternatives to the energy shortage facing Americans. If California can do its part by shortening the hours its citizens spend at work, then I think this proposal should be put into effect at the earliest feasible time," Papan said today.

Vice chairman of the Assembly Transportation Committee, Papan presented his proposal after attending hearings on fuel shortages, transportation needs and other aspects of the energy crisis.

MICHAEL DUNN Navy Seaman Michael J. Dunn, son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew R. Dunn of 520 Hemlock Ave., South San Francisco, has graduated from recruit training at the Naval Training Center in San Diego.

A 1971 graduate of Serra High School, he attended San Francisco State University in San Francisco, and is scheduled to report to Data Processing Technician A School in San Diego.

Garden Of the Month

THE GARDEN, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Dunow, 532 Atlanta St., Daly City, shown here won the Garden of the Month Award this month by the Daly City Garden Club. This is a split level garden, with the upper level featuring a sonoma stone patio, partially surrounding a bonsai garden, bordered by bougainvillea, camellias, lilies, roses and a hibiscus. Descending the curved stone steps bordered by a wrought iron railing, the lower level is terraced and strawberry plants make up the ground cover. The garden also features a miniature cactus garden. The beauty of the garden is accented at night with colored lights.

Daly City Blood Drive Scheduled

The Peninsula Blood Bank will hold a Blood Drive Dec. 4, from 3 p.m. to 7 p.m. in the Police Department Squad Room in the basement at Daly City City Hall.

Potential donors must meet the following basic requirements:

Donors giving blood must be between 18 and 66 years of age. They must be in good health with normal temperature, hemoglobin and blood pressure. Blood donors may be any type.

No fatty foods may be eaten four hours prior to blood donation. Also, a police officer or fireman may not give blood unless there has been an eight-week period since any previous blood donation, and must be off duty for 12 hours immediately following the donation.

Prospective donors with a history of the following are not accepted: infectious jaundice (hepatitis); tuberculosis, diabetes, malaria, syphilis, heart condition, any surgery within the past six months, childbirth within the past six months, cold within the past two weeks, penicillin reaction within six months. Less than 12 weeks between donations, any malignancies other than skin cancer.

Stroke Club Plans Party

A Christmas Party is being planned for the December meeting of the Mary's Help Hospital Stroke Club.

The meeting will be held Dec. 11, at 7 p.m. in the ninth floor recreation room of the Daly City hospital. There will not be a January meeting for the club.

The meeting is open to all stroke victims, their families and friends. The purpose of the club is to help stroke patients adjust to the new life styles made necessary by a stroke.

For more information on the Stroke Club, contact Dianne McGowan, R.N., at 992-4000, extension 291.

Red Cross Volunteer Sylvia Moor Retires

Behind the Red Cross doors at 803 1/2 Linden Ave. in South San Francisco sits a pretty and refined lady.

Her name is Sylvia Moor and for the past year and a half she has been one of the major factors in the success of the South San Francisco Red Cross Service Center.

Sylvia is a volunteer, but she has worked regular hours and knows just as much about the Red Cross South City operation as any staff member. This month she has decided to spend more time on other activities. Consequently she is retiring from Red Cross.

The South San Francisco Service Center, the one Sylvia has been serving out of, is one of the newer more innovative concepts in Red Cross. Its role is to involve and serve people who are not otherwise participating in Red Cross. The South San Francisco case, the two nearest offices being San Francisco and Burlingame. Sylvia takes joy in witnessing the growth of this office, its programs and projects, its creation of an advisory committee.

She attributes much of the success to the aggressive leadership of the office director, Linda Schutte. But, if you question Linda about the expansion of her office and programs, she states, "without the dedicated knowledge of volunteers such as Sylvia we would never be where we are today."

Sylvia first became interested in Red Cross after having done some clerical work for the Cancer Society. She was referred to Red Cross by the Volunteer Bureau.

"At first I didn't feel like I was learning much, but when I was left in charge of the office while the director was on vacation, I had to learn. I relied on the Burlingame office to help me out," she said.

Over the past year and a half, Sylvia has answered calls, typed, set up a filing system for the new office and served as an over-all receptionist. She has become familiar with Red Cross programs and in turn has provided the community with this information.

When the office had its first open house, Sylvia helped with the decorating, the painting and the furnishing. With an ongoing need for community volunteers, she has helped recruit volunteers. Once they were recruited, she was responsible for keeping track of their service and filling out monthly reports.

Children's Books To Be Reviewed

William E. Bartels, an old friend of The Friends of the Daly City Library, returns Dec. 6, at 10 a.m. to again present "Capsule Reviews of Current Adult and Children's Books" in the Coral Room of the Westlake Library, 275 Southgate Ave.

With an eye to holiday gift-giving, he will feature popular and new fiction and non-fiction and important children's materials.

Bartels, who for some time formerly represented Doubleday Publications, recently returned from a sojourn in Europe. Holding a library science degree from Western Reserve in Cleveland, Ohio, he worked at various times as a librarian in a mental institution, high schools and Arizona State University.

Preceding the program will be a coffee social hosted by Hospitality Chairman Elvera Sunell, assisted by Mmes. Klaus Tschorsing and Lloyd Wilson.

Book Review Chairman, Mrs. H. C. Kincaid has made plans following the review for a no-host luncheon at Lyons Restaurant, Daly City, to honor Bartels. Members and guests may make reservations at the review.

The review, the third in the 1973-74 daytime series offered by The Friends, is presented as a community service, and the public is cordially invited to attend free of charge.

Demos Slate Holiday Party

The North County Democratic Association will hold its first Christmas party Dec. 14 from 8 p.m. to midnight at the Burlingame Women's Club, 241 Park Road, Burlingame.

The party is open to the public and tickets are $3.50 each, which includes a buffet and dancing. Refreshments will be available.

Tickets may be obtained from any member of the NCDA or by calling Mrs. Norma Corey, 588-4662, or Mrs. Carol Carter, 583-0894.

History

From the "What's New Department" comes a history of Daly City and Colma by yours truly. In case you are interested copies of it may be obtained from the Daly City Clerk's office and from any branch of the Daly City Public Library.

To give you a critical review, I asked a group to discuss the book and give me their opinions. What follows is a report of what they said.

"The Gateway to the Peninsula" puts Daly City in a select class of California communities — a history book with multiple pages and bound in a hard cover. It puts Daly City on the map, so to speak.

Here is a book that Daly City residents could use with pride for Christmas gifts, for it shows that their "hometown" has witnessed a history that is unique in California annals and yet is typical of the wonderful development of the crossroad corners of America into living cities. For $6 it is the bargain of the age; we hope Daly City sees fit to put it in the book stores, maybe even in the supermarkets of the area.

WE'VE BEEN waiting for this history for a long time, ever since Sam Chandler started talking about it which was at least ten years ago. Now that it is out we find it contains 150 pages and 112 pictures.

The pictures alone are worth the price of the book and we send our congratulations to Bill Koska who reproduced those that are old and photographed those that are of modern scenes. Once again Koska proves that he is one of the real artists that our communities have produced.

In the preface Chandler tells us that the book makes no pretense of being a complete history. We agree it is not a complete history. To us it is an outline, but that is all most of us expected, because we know that the people of the Colma-Daly City area never cared enough about their history to describe the events as they happened or to record the anecdotes and comments that are the raw stuff that historians must refine. In this respect Chandler said that his book was written to be a resource that may answer many questions, we believe it will do that.

Chandler has tried, but we wish his book told more of the romance we find in the stories of the area. We'd like to know more of Patrick Brooks who built his home in the Colma Hills and of Michael Comerford who, Chandler says, made a living raising eucalyptus trees or of Mr. Belli, the pioneer merchant, etc. There is much to be told that Chandler did not include in his book.

SAM CHANDLER writes too many choppy sentences. This is a defect he says he has worked against for 30 years, but can't conquer. Chandler seems to write with too much discipline to produce flowing descriptions and glowing terms. Sometimes a reader wonders if he knows that adjectives have been accepted in the English language for nearly 2000 years.

We salute Chandler for including many quotes for men and women who saw things happen. In the "Gateway to the Peninsula," we meet Matrup Jensen, Henry Sundermann, Arthur Bodien, Edmund Cavanaro, Teresa Altieri, George Kirchhubel, William J. Savage, and others who made the grow.

Despite its brevity, Chandler's history is a success. We hope it will be read by the people of our area. We wish, furthermore, that more California cities had such a history.

Business Bureau Questions, Answers

By LORENE BEASLEY

QUESTION: I recently received a mailing from Unity Buying Service offering a 128-page book free entitled, "How to Get More For Your Money." If I would subscribe to the company's plan for one year. The book cover displayed the statement "From the Publisher of the Better Business Bureau Consumer's Buying Guide." Can you give me information concerning the service offered by Unity, and does the Better Business Bureau advocate the reading of this book?

ANSWER: Unity claims that for a $6 yearly membership its members will be able to purchase "brand-name merchandise" at factory direct prices plus a 6 percent service and shipping charge.

Back as far as June 1971, the New York State Attorney General charged Unity with misleading the public through the use of allegedly false representation. On Nov. 4, 1971 a consent order was signed by Unity in which it agreed to refrain from such practices as delays in shipment and refunds. It is suggested that prospective members compare prices of merchandise available locally with the prices listed in Unity's catalogue.

As for the book "How to Get More For Your Money," there is no connection whatsoever with the Better Business Bureau, nor was any authorization given for the use of the Better Business name. Unity and Benjamin Company (the publisher) were requested by the Council of Better Business Bureaus Aug. 9, 1973, to terminate any further use of the Better Business Bureau trademark and were advised that the Bureaus were prepared to take steps necessary to protect the use of its name.

QUESTION: Is it true that the book "The Arthritic Cookbook" is medically incorrect? If so, why is the present promotion allowed?

ANSWER: On the basis of the promotional material, the Kansas Chapter of the Arthritis Foundation has made the following comment on the book by Dr. Collin H. Dong and Jane Banks and published by Thomas Y. Crowell Aug. 15.

"The book appears to claim and/or imply that Dr. Dong's diet is successful in treating patients with arthritis, reducing disability and eliminating pain. That there is no special diet for Arthritis is a scientifically established fact. The possibility that some dietary factor either causes or can help control arthritis

Congregation B'nai Israel Rabbi To Present 'Our Legacy'

Sabbath services will be held at Congregation B'nai Israel Nov. 30 beginning at 8:30 p.m.

They will be conducted by Rabbi Sheldon Edwards and Cantor Jacob Graudenz who will chant the liturgy. Rabbi Edwards has selected "Our Legacy, Rabbi Solomon A. Shore" as his sermon topic for the evening.

During the service the Memorial Plaque for Rabbi Solomon A. Shore will be unveiled. Rabbi Shore served Congregation B'nai Israel from 1957 to 1971 as its Rabbi. He was then elevated to Rabbi Emeritus status. He died in 1972.

In addition, Birthday Sabbath will be observed. Those children whose birthdays are celebrated during the month of November will be blessed by Rabbi Edwards and presented with a small gift by Congregation President A. Arthur Hirschhorn.

To be honored are: Daniel Dickerman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Dickerman; Lisa Levine, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Leonard Levine; Ralph Rechnitz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gary Rechnitz; Suzanne Reicher, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Reicher; and Peter Snyderman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Snyderman. An Oneg Shabbat hosted by the ladies of the Congregation will follow.

Sabbath morning services will begin Saturday at 10 a.m. and will also be conducted by Rabbi Edwards and Cantor Graudenz. "Jacob Wanders" has been selected by Rabbi Edwards as his sermon theme. A Kiddush will follow.

The Sisterhood of Congregation B'nai Israel will hold its annual Chanukah Bazaar at the Templehouse Dec. 2 beginning at 1:30 p.m. Featured will be religious and non-religious gift items, wrapping paper and decorations for the Chanukah holiday. The traditional food of the season, potato pancakes, will be served. Members and friends are encouraged to attend.

At a recent meeting of the congregation's Men's Club, a nominating committee presented the following slate of officers for the year 1974: President, Julius Michaelis; Vice Presidents, Len Mayer, Len Levine, Al Herpe; Secretary, Stanley Spinrod; Treasurer, Werner Snyder; Trustees, Gerald Fox, Julius Geller, Rudi Krebs, Eddy Sennett, and Monty Bandar.

Reservations are being accepted for a New Year's Eve Gala by the Sisterhood of Congregation B'nai Israel. The affair will be held at the Templehouse and will feature a sit-down dinner, favors, prizes and dancing to Ray Catalano's orchestra.

Co-Chairmen of the event are Mrs. George Bilick and Mrs. Milton Potak, who may be contacted at 992-7464 and 992-4186 for reservations. Donation is $21 per couple.

'Butterflies Free' Opens Friday

The acclaimed Porterville Barn Theatre's production of Leonard Gershe's comedy, "Butterflies Are Free" is being brought to Pacific Nov. 30 and Dec. 1, under the sponsorship of the Pacific Spindrift Players.

Production time will be 8:30 p.m. both evenings at Oddstad Park Playhouse, 1000 block of Crespi Drive, Pacifica.

Featured in the cast are Wayne Burgess and Sherri Raley as Don Baker and Jill Tanner — newly acquainted neighbors with different living ideas, such as tearing down their joining doors. Nan Lumley plays Mrs. Baker, concerned over her son's newly found independence, since going blind. Rick Smith plays Ralph Austin.

Serramonte To Stage 'Share'

Serramonte High School's Drama Department will present its Fall production of the comedy "Come Share My Cloud" or "Bibi" for short in the Little Theater of the school at 8 p.m. on two consecutive weekends, Nov. 30, Dec. 1 and Dec. 7 and Dec. 8.

Tickets may be purchased in advance from drama students or at the door on the nights of production. Price is $1 with student body card and $1.50 without.

The cast includes Amy Schwimmer, Nancy Gianini, David Kaplan, Martina Karapiet, Lori Kaplan, Sam Martinez, Evan Pappas, Laura Valisquez, Ted Wegmann, Cameron Graubart, Diana Ross, Bill Gross and Sandy Penny.

The production is supervised and directed by Ms. Diane Streeter.

Pacifica's Frontierland Park May Open Sooner Than Expected

Phase One of the building of Frontierland Park in Pacifica should be completed by next spring, but with additional funds from the State, the recreation area may be ready for public use sooner than expected.

At the meeting of the Pacifica Parks, Beaches and Recreation Committee Nov. 20, Richard Burton, director, explained that "the $250 million State Parks, Beaches, Recreation and Historical Facilities Bond Act of 1974, will be on the June 4 ballot."

"Ninety million dollars will go to local government, $2,173,000 to San Mateo County, and $140,000 to Pacifica, allocated by population," he said.

Burton indicated that the city has a choice of how its money will be allocated; by population, on a 50-50 percentage basis, or a 30-70 percentage basis. "In order to get the full amount, I recommend that we go by population and that we suggest this to the city council," he said. "Otherwise, we'll only get either 50 per cent or 70 per cent of the total." It is the county's responsibility to decide the distribution of the funds and to set up a list of priorities. Shelia Hyman, member of the PB and R Board of Commissioners, made a motion that the city's bid be put toward the completion of Frontierland Park.

She contends that since work on the park is already in progress, it should be finished before any new projects are undertaken.

Katherine Reinhertz, commissioner, seconded the motion. A recommendation will be made to the city council.

Bike trails in and around Pacifica need repairing and they were also under discussion by the commission. Burton explained that, in addition to the $6,000 in city appropriations, "we are putting in for another $1,900 with the State Department of Transportation."

"The money will be used on city-owned property for grading, repaving and stenciling. Money is also needed for repairs on state-owned property," he said. "The most dangerous bike trails are on the highway between Vallemar and Lindamar, which are the state's concern."

He added that "we are going to request that the State take them over," and be responsible for their upkeep.

If the commission's query for the $1,900 is granted, the improvements will be made soon, as "the State wants the money spent by next year," Burton said.

Under correspondence on the commission agenda, was a letter from Mrs. J. Abbey, 1168 Encanto Way, requesting removal of a street tree.

A large Monterey pine tree is the offender. The complaint is that the needles litter the street and the front yard; the tree is too tall; children are always climbing in it; and the roots protrude above ground.

"Pounds of needles fall into the stones around my house, and you can't get them out by hand," Mrs.

Abbey said. "They are tracked into the house and I've had to have my rug cleaned professionally twice in the past six months."

William Richardson, chairman, said he had looked at the tree and talked to the neighbors, who said "the tree didn't bother them."

"The real problem," Richardson said, "is that the needles are not raked up. I was there Tuesday, and when I went back Sunday, the needles had not been touched."

Mrs. Abbey replied that "to try to rake them up, even from the grass, is almost hopeless. They stick to everything."

Burton, however, quoted the city policy on the matter, which, in essence, encourages the growth of street trees and discourages their removal.

"This is the case in most instances," he said, "unless there are existing hazards or proven personal hardship on the property owner."

"But what is hardship? Whatever happens will be precedent for what's going to happen in the future," he said.

During the ensuing discussion, Hyman pointed out that "although I agree that needles are a nuisance, if the tree were to be removed, the property owner would have to pay for its removal and pay to have another tree planted."

As the conversation moved across the table, Reinhertz said, "as far as I am concerned, it is not an attractive looking tree. It's been pruned up too high and has lost its character as a pine tree. It is close to the PG&E wires and they don't prune nicely, they just chop."

With all feelings expressed from the four members present, Hyman's original statement concerning removal and replacement was made a motion and a vote was taken. The outcome was two for removal, two against, defeating the issue.

Troop 369 Visits the Presidio

Daly City Scouts from Troop 369 participated at two weekend outings recently.

Dividing the troop into two sections, Assistant Scoutmasters Ray Boasso, Martin Dreiling and Craig Markinson accompanied David Rosendall, Jim Schumacher and Mike Franzola of the Rattlesnake Patrol; Viking Patrol members Trippy Sliker, Jon Rosendall, Edwin Bulos and Mike Hyde and Leadership Corps member F. J. Pratt on a trip to San Francisco Presidio Historic Trail campsite.

The second section of the Troop under the direction of Scoutmaster Fred Pratt and Assistant Scoutmaster Bill Leavitt traveled to Camp Royaneh for the Order of the Arrow Ordeal and Brotherhood Ceremonies.

In camp were Ordeal Members Kirt Stadler and Louis Tinsley and Brotherhood Members Ken Boasso, Mike Burns, Mike Dittmore, Phil Manchester, Jay Pierce and Rich Bagnall.

Deaths

WILLIAM STRUTHERS
William C. Struthers, 55, was found dead in his room in a hotel on South San Francisco's Airport Blvd., Nov. 6. Funeral services for him were held Nov. 20.

He was retired greens keeper at the South San Francisco Golf Club. Struthers was a veteran of World War II, where he had served as a sergeant in the Army Air Force.

A native of Salt Lake City, he had resided in South San Francisco for 15 years. He had no known survivors.

Funeral services were held from Nauman and Lincoln Mortuary in South San Francisco. Interment followed in Olivet Memorial Park.

NITA NEILSON
Nita A. Neilson, 56, 462 Monterey Road, died in Mary's Help Hospital, Nov. 20, after being rushed there by ambulance. Cause of her death is being investigated by the San Mateo County Coroner's office.

Mrs. Neilson was an employee of Western Airlines, and a member of the Order of Eastern Star.

She is survived by her husband, Walter, and a brother who resides in Oklahoma. A native of Bono, Ark., she had resided in Pacifica for three years.

Funeral services were held Monday from Nauman and Lincoln Chapel by the Sea Mortuary in Pacifica, thence to the Good Shepherd Church where requiem mass was celebrated at 9 p.m. Interment followed in Holy Cross Cemetery.

Making the Most of Tangerine Season

The appearance of tangerines traditionally heralds the approach of winter. The fruit will be in markets until May.

California and Arizona citrus growers produce several different varieties of tangerines during the winter and spring. In the past they have all been called "tangerine", but they are actually broken down into four categories:

MANDARINS have a lighter orange color than the other varieties, with a mild sweet flavor and few seeds. Included in this group are Satsuma, Kinnow, Wilking and Kara.

TANGERINES are the most brilliant orange color of all the varieties. Algerian, Dancy and Fairchild are included in this group.

TEMPLE ORANGES are larger, with a pleasant, tart-sweet flavor.

TANGELOS are crosses between grapefruit and tangerine. They combine the best of both fruits for a delightful, tangy, sweet flavor. Included in the tangelo group are Orlando and Minneola.

Each variety of tangerine has a slightly different characteristic, but they can be used interchangeably in recipes.

This early California-Mexican recipe is delicious served with tortillas or Armenian peta bread. If these are not available use with rice.

PICADILLO

- (6 servings)
 1/4 cup fresh squeezed tangerine juice
 1/2 cup raisins
 1 pound lean ground beef
 1 tablespoon oil
 1 cup chopped onions
 1 can (16 ounce) whole peeled tomatoes, undrained
 2 tablespoons white or cider vinegar
 1 teaspoon sugar
 1 teaspoon cinnamon
 1 teaspoon salt
 1/4 teaspoon cumin
 1/4 teaspoon chili powder
 1/8 teaspoon ground cloves
 2 California-Arizona tangerines, peeled and segmented.

In a small sauce pan, heat tangerine juice just to boiling. Pour over raisins to plump and set aside. In a large skillet fry ground beef in oil. When meat has lost red color, push to one side of the pan and add chopped onion. Fry onions until they are transparent. Drain off excess fat, if necessary, retaining about 2 tablespoons in skillet. Add tomatoes, vinegar, sugar, seasonings and plumped raisins with tangerine juice. Stir to combine well. Over medium heat bring to a boil. Reduce heat and simmer uncovered for 30 to 45 minutes, until flavors mellow and liquid is reduced. Gently stir in tangerine segments and heat for one minute. Serve immediately.

TANGERINE ANGEL CAKE

- (12 to 16 servings)
 5 California-Arizona tangerines, peeled, sectioned, seeded (about 3 cups)
 1 10-inch angel food cake
 1/2 cup dry sherry wine
 1 cup whipping cream, whipped and sweetened
 Powdered sugar (optional)
 Grate peel from tangerine to yield 1 tablespoon peel. Peel tangerines and separate into segments. Cut half the segments into bite-size pieces. Leave remaining segments whole for garnish. Split angel food cake crosswise into 2 even layers. Spoon wine over cut surfaces of each layer. Whip cream, sweetening with 2 tablespoons sugar. Fold in grated tangerine peel. Spread the bottom cake layer with half the whipped cream mixture. Cover with tangerine bite-size pieces. Add top cake layer; spoon on remaining whipped cream and garnish with whole tangerine segments. Dust with powdered sugar, if desired.

(2 cups of your favorite whipped topping can be substituted for the whipped cream.)
 If you want to be remembered long after your visit, give your hostess a "bread and butter" gift of a bottle of your very own chutney.

TANGERINE APRICOT CHUTNEY
 (makes 7 cups)
 3 or 4 California-Arizona tangerines (approx. 2 1/2 cups)
 1 pound dried apricots, chopped
 1 1/2 cups firmly packed brown sugar
 1-1/3 cups chopped onion
 1/2 cup golden raisins
 2 teaspoons salt
 1 teaspoon coriander seeds, crushed
 1/2 cup white vinegar
 1/3 cup fresh squeezed lemon juice

With sharp knife, score tangerines into quarters and carefully remove peel. Cut peel into strips, 2 inches by 2 inch. Place in saucepan and cover with water. Bring to a boil, lower heat and simmer uncovered for 10 minutes. Drain and rinse well. Place chopped apricots in a medium bowl; cover with 3 cups boiling water. Let set for 10 minutes. Drain and rinse. Chop tangerine segments into pieces. In a large saucepan combine peel, chopped tangerines, apricots and remaining ingredients. Bring to boil and simmer gently until soft and thick, about 1 1/2 to 1 3/4 hours. Pour hot into hot sterilized jars and seal.

CANDIED TANGERINE YAMS
 (4 to 6 servings)
 3 California-Arizona tangerines
 1/4 cup fresh squeezed tangerine juice
 2 cans (1 pound each) whole yams
 1/4 cup butter or margarine
 1/4 cup firmly packed brown sugar
 1 tablespoon cornstarch
 Grate peel from tangerines to yield 1 teaspoon; reserve. Ream juice from tangerine to yield cups. cup. Peel remaining 2 tangerines; separate into segments, removing any seeds. Drain yams. Place in shallow baking dish. Top yams with tangerine segments. Melt butter in saucepan. Add brown sugar, stirring until dissolved. Mix cornstarch and tangerine juice together, stirring until completely blended. Add to saucepan with tangerine peel. Bring mixture to boil and bubble 2 minutes, stirring constantly. Pour over yams and bake, uncovered, at 350-deg. F. for 25 minutes.

Prices are discounted and single item priced except on fair-traded and government controlled items.

Food for Life Protein Needs Defined

By George M. Briggs, Ph.D., Nutritionist

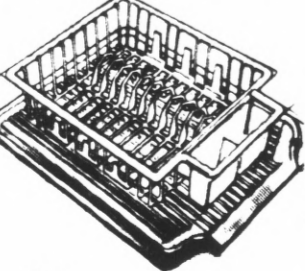

The importance of protein as the "body builder" has been emphasized so much that many Americans feel they should be eating more protein-rich foods.

Not so, says the Food and Nutrition Board of the National Academy of Sciences. What Americans need more of is exercise, not any particular kind of food.

The prestigious panel of physicians and nutritional scientists who, every five years, evaluate the latest nutritional research and from that establish new Recommended Daily Allowances (RDAs), has concluded that 56 grams of protein per day is enough for the average adult male, 46 for females. That is about 10 grams less than had been previously recommended. Moreover, most Americans consume much more protein than even these now outdated higher RDAs suggested, which means that most of us get far more protein than we need to keep our bodies intact.

The new recommendations were presented recently in Denver at the annual conference of the American Dietetic Association.

The only group for which higher protein intake is now being proposed are pregnant women (old RDA - 63 grams, new - 76 grams), while lactating women's need has been established at 66 grams, down six from the old RDAs. No higher amounts of protein are proposed for the elderly (which had previously been the case).

Living Christmas Tree Brings Joy for Years

By IVA NEWMAN

Each year we write about the joy of using your own, homegrown tree at Christmas. This year with more and more emphasis being placed on ecology it is becoming most important to have a tree that we can enjoy every day of the year, not just for the two or three weeks that it is covered with tinsel and bangles.

Apartment house dwellers, if they have a small balcony, can have a living Christmas tree. You don't have to have a big garden to enjoy these trees the year around. Neither do you have to worry about the tree outgrowing its space as the Japanese have taught us how to keep an evergreen tree healthy and happy in a small pot.

However, if you are just starting to use a living Christmas tree, you should visit several nurseries and look over their collection of potted and "balled and burlapped" trees so that you can make up your mind on just the type of tree you think will fit your needs. We do not recommend Monterey pines or other long-needed pines as the length of their needles calls for a height which most living rooms will not allow. A decorated Christmas tree is like a flower arrangement in that all of its parts must be in good proportion and balance with the other parts and with the space it is to occupy.

For folks with a small apartment, we would like to suggest a dwarf cryptomeria, a small mugho pine, a dwarf Alberta spruce or the umbrella pine (Sciadopitys verticillata). All of these can be had small enough to be placed on a table. When decorated with small ornaments and some of the tiny lights now available they are truly delightful.

The cryptomerias are frequently called Japanese cedars and in Japan we found they were called redwoods. They are, however, a member of the pine family. Be sure to choose the one named japonica nana Compacta as the other type will get to be 150 feet tall. They like a moist, well-drained soil and plenty of light.

Spruce
The Alberta spruce, Picea glauca var. albertiana, is a compact grower with a nice cone shape. The umbrella pine is on the rare side and may be a bit difficult to find. It may also need a bit of shaping but it will always be noticed and commented upon. The small mugho pine is usually rather rounded in shape but it is quite easily trained to a cone shape and it is also easily kept to a given size.

There are quite a number of four to six foot living Christmas trees from which to choose. Our favorite and according to the government statistics the most popular of all Christmas trees, is the Scotch pine, Pinus sylvestris. This pine is said to have greater geographical distribution than any other pine. We like it because young trees are well shaped with a straight stem and regular branching. The leaves, or needles, are between two and three inches long and slightly twisted. We have found this tree can be kept to a given height by simply breaking off the young candles in early spring. Its growth can be slowed by leaving a small portion of these candles on the plant and it certainly doesn't resent being pruned and shaped.

The Japanese black pine is another favorite that lends itself equally well to both container and garden growing. This pine and the Japanese red pine are popular selections of the Japanese for bonsai growing. They are easily trained and easily kept to a given size. Both of these pines have rather short needles, a great help when the tree is kept small as it would need to be when grown as a bonsai or in a container as a living Christmas tree.

There is no set rule that says you have to select a conifer for a living Christmas tree. There are a number of other evergreen trees, such as the laurel that can be used. The coniferous trees were selected in the beginning due to their ability to hold onto their leaves (needles) for a fairly long period after being cut. This isn't so important when choosing a living Christmas tree.

Container Important

Choose the container for your living Christmas tree with care as it will be a definite part of the overall picture. It should be highly decorated or it will take from the decorated tree. Keep it plain and simple of line. If possible make your own container. One of the best looking and most practical that we have seen is made of 2 inch by 12 inch redwood. It is 24 inches square at the top and 14 inches square at the bottom. The corners were mitered so there was no overlapping. The bottom is a 15 inch by 15 inch slab with a hole in the center. Four castors were attached to this base so that it could be moved easily. Nurseries have several types of containers. Among the best are those known as patio tubs. These are made of redwood square and octagonal shapes, held together with attractive brass bands. They come in a natural finish. We line our best containers with black plastic to prevent the constant moisture from rotting the wood, just be sure the drainage hole is left unobstructed.

We like to plant our own trees but most nurseries will plant them for you for a small fee if you buy the tree and container from them. We use a soil mix similar to the one we use for bonsai pines. This consists of one part screened top soil, one part each coarse river sand and sponge rock and three parts redwood soil conditioner that has been fortified with nitrogen. A square of aluminum screen wire is placed over the drainage hole and three to four inches of the potting mix is spread over the bottom, before planting.

For trees that come in cans, the cans are cut from top to bottom in four places so the root ball can be lifted out easily. Loosen the soil about the roots so the top of the root ball can be placed two inches below the top of the container so as to leave a good space for watering. Discard this soil and spread the roots out in the new container and fill in around them with the potting mix firming it down with the fingers as you work. After potting soak the soil with a solution of transplantone.

Balled and burlapped trees need a bit more attention.

The root ball should be soaked in a tub of water until it is wet through then placed on the layer of soil in the bottom of the container. Cut away as much of the burlap and string as possible. With the fingers carefully work away some of the soil on the bottom of the ball until the top is two inches below the rim of the container. Add potting mix until the container is firmly filled to the top of the root ball. After potting, water until all of the soil is soaked.

Keep in mind that your tree will grow and be happy in the same container for several years so select a good, sturdy one. It will not need to have a soil change for three or four years. Even then the scooping out of two or three inches of soil around the sides of the container will make room for enough fresh soil for another couple of years. Your tree will need fertilizer and water at fairly regular intervals.

New Parking Tax

and economic stability of the community," Rowe said. Daly City would itself have to pay some half million dollars in the second phase (1976) of the regulation for employees' parking slots.

Current figures disclose there would be a 600 per cent increase in parking meter rates for on-street parking and metered municipal parking lots.

Serramonte Shopping Center with its 4,697 spaces would pay more than $2 million by July 1, 1976, while Westlake would be charged slightly less than $1 million during that same period.

The League of California Cities, in a Nov. 16, 1973, release urged input from affected cities before Nov. 29.

Meanwhile, resolutions and law suits are being eyed as the member cities' response to the EPA regulation.

Typical is Daly City's resolution authorizing its staff to proceed with whatever steps necessary to stop the parking surtax.

It was pointed out that parking at city facilities, such as libraries, parks and community centers, would be in excess of $150,000 in Daly City.

"People who came before this council to practice their right of free speech would be taxed for the privilege of parking at City Hall," Polonsky said.

With the State law prohibiting the city from increasing its property taxes, payments must be made from existing revenue sources, with a probable resulting decrease in levels of city services, Rowe said.

The Council voted to petition for exclusion from requirements of the Environmental Protection Agency a proposal to charge an owner of more than five free parking spaces a fee of $450 a year per space.

The city approved an agreement with the State Department of Human Resources to take part in the Community Work Experience Program under which the city could hire additional employees for 70 cents a day, city cost, with the state bringing the wage to minimum pay. To be trained, would be persons now on the Aid to Families with Dependent Children.

"We can always use more park maintenance workers and clerks," Thompson said.

Daly City History Is Written

Daly City has its first official history, "Gateway to the Peninsula," by Samuel Chandler, City Librarian. It was adopted by the City Council by resolution Oct. 22. Distribution started Nov. 3.

Presently copies may be obtained at the Office of the City Clerk in the Civic Center at 90th and Sullivan Streets or at any Branch of the Daly City Public Library: 275 Southgate Ave.; 6351 Mission St.; and at 2960 Geneva Ave. The price is $6 per copy.

The volume of history has 150 pages and contains many photographs and maps that correlate with the narrative. A review reveals that the history tells the story of Colma as well as Daly City for, according to the author, one cannot write of either Colma or Daly City without writing of the other.

In the preface, Chandler writes that his history was prepared for one major purpose: "to make clear to the people of Daly City and Colma and the territory that surrounds them, that they live in an area that has had an exciting past and is slated for an equally exciting future."

Comments from persons who received the first copies of "The Gateway to the Peninsula," indicated their delight with the many photographs that are included in the volume. Most of the pictures Chandler said were gathered from long time residents and reproduced by Bill Koska, a Daly City photographer. Others were taken by Koska for inclusion in the history.

Knights Honor Member For Leadership

At the recently held Past Grand Knights dinner in Daly City, Joseph A. Gumina, retiring Grand Knight of Marian Council 3773, Knights of Columbus, was presented with a certificate from the Supreme Council in recognition of his leadership of Marian Council during the period 1972-1973.

In addition, Guimina was presented with his Past Grand Knight Jewel and tie pin, a plaque signifying his year in office and a Certificate of Merit honoring him for the work he performed in the past year during which Marian Council won top honors from the State Council and Supreme Council, Knights of Columbus.

Renewal Complaints Are Heard

The California State Senate Committee on Local Government met Nov. 21 to hear complaints and suggestions regarding the project committee provision on Redevelopment Law.

"Citizen participation in redevelopment" was named as the subject of the hearing. The announcement stated: "There is practically no restriction on the membership of the (project area) committee. Consequently, one city has chosen a committee which is grossly unrepresentative of the residents of the project area, consisting of six businessmen and one resident."

Chairman of the Local Government Committee, Sen. Milton Marks, presided, and other senators attending were Vice Chairman Arlen Gregorio, and Albert S. Rodda.

Conrad Pavellas, chairperson of the Original Daly City Protective Association was the first to be called.

He described how the Daly City Committee of Concerned Clergy had recognized the limitations of the law and had held an election of residents, businesspeople and organization representatives in equal parts, and under strict eligibility rules, to form a project area committee for the now-defunct project area.

Atty. Tony Cline of Public Advocates, who had fought the Yerba Buena Development, offered some suggestions on the formation of a project area committee. Cline said the committee should be formed early, even before a project is declared from a survey area; then narrowed down once a project is defined to persons within that area.

He said it should be given more power; it should be given not only a staff that the law calls for, but an expert on housing and redevelopment to serve as consultant.

Both women also would like to see more control exercised over travel by the personnel commissioners. However, the Commission makes up its own budget and hands it over to the school board for inclusion in the overall budget, it was explained by Mrs. Adams.

Mrs. Adams further noted that in 1972 the three-member commission spent some $4,000 on travel around the country.

"This ($4,000) is the same amount spent for attending meetings and conferences as all our certificated personnel," Mrs. Forrester said.

The JESD has 450 certificated personnel.

The five-member school board, during the same year, allocated for travel $1,500. Only a fraction of this was spent, Mrs. Adams said.

Jeff High Schedules Parents Meet

Jefferson High School will hold a parent meeting night, tonight from 7:30-9:30 p.m.

Freshman parents will meet at 7:30 p.m. in the Vocal Music Room 402 where counselors and administrators will give general information. Sophomore, Junior and Senior parents will meet in the cafeteria at 7:30 p.m.

At 8 p.m. the freshman parents will join the others in the cafeteria for coffee and to socialize. Areas of the cafe will be designated by departments to assist parents in finding people with whom they may want to speak.

Choirs Invited To Sing At Serramonte

Serramonte Shopping Center annual invites church, civic and school choirs to sing on their Mall weekdays during the Holiday season.

Both day-time and evening hours, from Dec. 1-14, singing groups will be scheduled on first-come basis. The groups move around the Center, so they must perform acappella.

Groups interested in performing Christmas and Holiday music are invited to contact Donna Lee Henderson from 9:30 to 4:30, at 992-4416.

Social Dance Class Offered

The Daly City Recreation Department invites all adults to enroll in the late fall session of Social Dance Instruction.

Under the instruction of Mrs. Gene Evans, the session will be held Tuesday evenings through Dec. 18 at Westlake Elementary School, 80 Fieldcrest, Daly City.

Beginners will meet from 7:30-8:30 p.m. and will learn Swing, Tango and Rock, while the intermediate students will meet from 8:45-9:45 p.m. and will learn Tango, Bossa Nova and Rock.

The session is open to all persons 16 years of age and older. Daly City residents will be given preference for registration.

There is an instruction fee of $11 per couple or $6 per single partner.

Advance registration is required. Interested students should send name, address, daytime phone number, and correct fee to the Daly City Recreation Department, 134 Hillside Blvd.

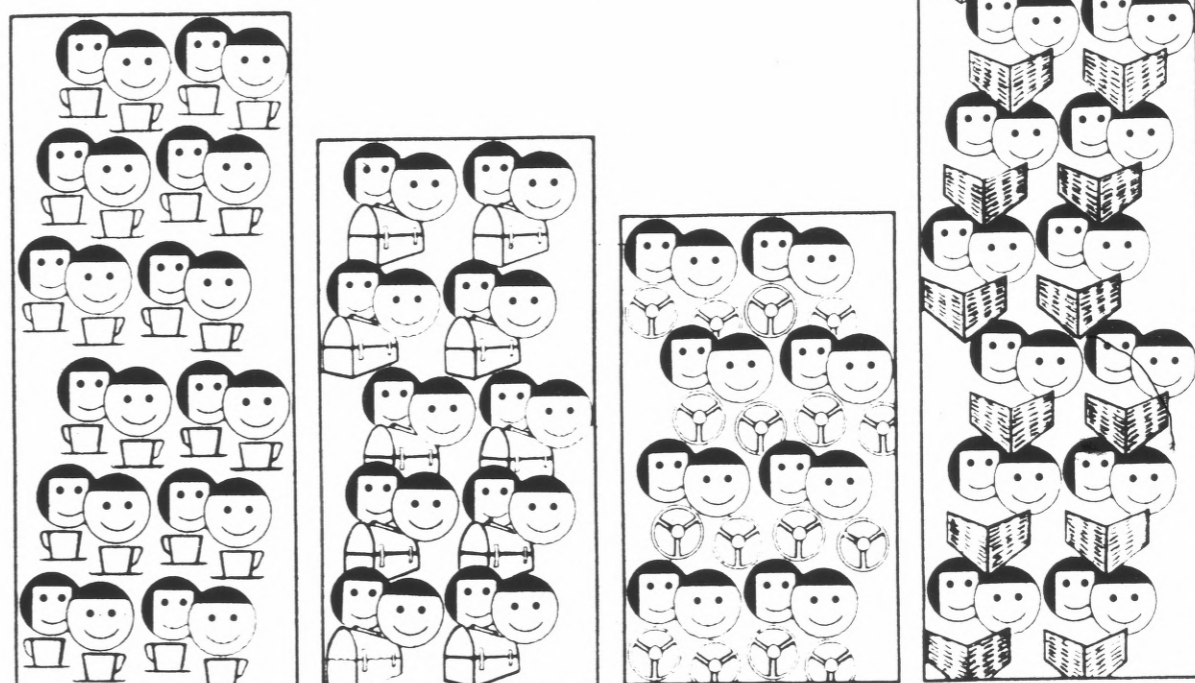

For further information, call 992-5356.

MRS. MARTIN THOMPSON, right, and Mrs. Bob Parker wrap packages as they will continue to do through Dec. 24 in the Serramonte Shopping Center in the Mall between Longs and the Fountain across from Lady J. The project will help the United Methodist Woman of Daly City finance their mission responsibilities. Mrs. Irving Carthew, chairman, and her co-chairmen Mrs. James Booher, Mrs. James Current, Mrs. Del Dilbeck, Mrs. Louis Giusti, Mrs. Rupert Medina, Virginia McKeag, Mrs. Bob Parker, Mrs. Max Pena, and Mrs. Martin Thompson, invite the public to visit the booth. Men helping in this project include The Rev. James Current, Louis Giusti, Frank Medina, Bob Parker, Jim Booher, and Irving Carthew.

THE MILLION - MILE REACH

If you're a typical advertiser with a typical interest in how to reach the typical American, you should know . . . On a typical week-day, here's what this many adult Americans (18 and over) will do during the day:

88 Million
Will Drink
Coffee

77 Million
Will Go
To Work

70 Million
Will Drive
An Auto

100 Million
Will Read A Newspaper

Those newspaper readers, on an average day, will open 84% of the pages of their newspapers—ENOUGH PAGES END-TO-END TO STRETCH ONE MILLION MILES!

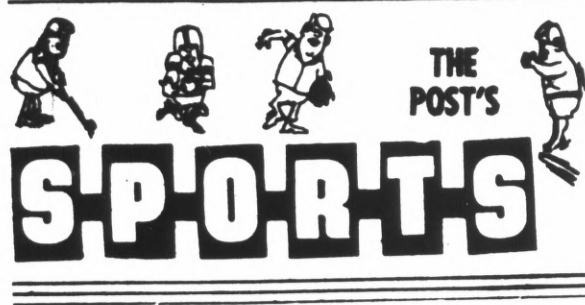

More importantly, 81% of the ads in those newspapers can be expected to be seen by any given typical reader on an average day.

You can't be in the coffee cup, or the lunch bucket or under the car seat . . . but you can be in the newspaper. Put your ad where Americans are . . . in the newspaper . . . every day.

USE THE MILLION - MILE REACH NEWSPAPERS FIRST

CSM Bulldogs Upset Pierce

Le Pacini Quarterbacks

LOCAL NOTE: Terra Nova assistant football coach Bernie Oliver is the same Bernie Oliver who ran so spectacularly for Hayward State between 1967-70: so spectacularly, in fact, that he is the tenth all-time career rusher in small college history, having compiled 4,135 yards for a 5.0 average carry.

SEVERAL YEARS ago we were booming Len Dawson as football's most underrated passer, and proved our point, we thought, by comparing his statistics with those of Joe Namath's, who was at that time football's hottest quarterback.

Now, according to the latest NFL career passing statistics, it's official. Rating passers on a basis of completion percentage, touchdowns, interception percentage and average gain per pass attempt, Dawson is the highest ranked passer of all-time, followed closely by Sonny Jurgensen (you listening, George Allen?). Namath, as a matter of fact, is ranked only 20th, which makes him look much worse than he did in our evaluation, where he was at least close to Dawson.

Actually, considering that Dawson and Namath put in considerable time in the weak, pass-happy American Football League (Dawson eight years, Namath five), we suppose that Jurgensen, a full-time NFL'er, must at this point be considered the best pure passer of all-time.

We say "pure" passer because neither our survey nor current NFL statistics consider "quarterback" efficiency, and there is a lot more to quarterbacking than passing. In that case, you would probably have to rate Johnny Unitas the top all-time quarterback, because he is not only third in passing stats, but he helped his teams win a lot of NFL titles.

AND USING the latter as a guide to quarterback efficiency, you would then undoubtedly have to put Bart Starr close behind Unitas, because he was in on a lot of NFL wins, too, and has good enough stats to rank fifth on the all-time passing list.

Using winning as a criteria, Dawson also beats Namath, having guided his teams to five AFL and NFL championship games as against Namath's one. But we can't be too harsh on Namath, because a good quarterback has to have a good team behind him to look his best, and Namath hasn't always had that luxury. We've always felt that the role of a quarterback in a team's winning proficiency has been overrated.

One of the oddities of the all-time passing leader list is that Earl Morrall, who has for 18 years been essentially a back-up man, ranks eighth. So, if one were figuring the top passer of all time by prorating statistics with minutes played, Morrall would certainly have to rate first, because here isn't a QB among the top 20 who wasn't or hasn't been a starter for virtually his entire career. (We include the phrase "hasn't been" because nine of the top 20 passers are still active.)

NOW THAT Dawson is finally officially recognized, we'll have to start a campaign for Fran Tarkenton as football's most underrated passer. When most people think of Tarkenton, they think of excitement, of a scrambler, but certainly not a "pure" passer. Yet, Tarkenton ranks fourth on the all-time list and has the lowest interception ranking of the top 20, as only 4.3 per cent of his passes have been intercepted. Which has to say something for scramblers; like maybe all that moving around allows them to find their receivers more easily than a drop-back guy.

Tarkenton's stats are rather amazing when one considers that he's only in his 13th season, as compared to other big record holders like Unitas (18th season), Jurgensen (17th), Dawson (17th) and John Brodie (17th).

Tarkenton is third in career passing attempts (behind Unitas and Brodie); third in lifetime completions (behind Unitas and Brodie); is tied with several others for the second highest amount of consecutive completed passes (13); and is second behind Unitas in yards gained passing.

SUDDEN THOUGHT: We've just come up with a brilliant idea on how to neutralize the effect of field goals, an offensive factor which many (including yours truly) believe is helping greatly to make pro football dull.

We can't understand why some genius hasn't thought of this before, rather than to fool around with such devices as moving the goal posts back or allowing fewer points for shorter field goals.

Our plan is simple and direct. Eliminate field goals, altogether and while you're at it, eliminate conversions, too, because they're automatic, anyway.

Do that and teams would HAVE to go for touchdowns. (P.S. You could retain kickoffs and punting, to keep the "foot" in football.)

FOR SOME REASON it hasn't been generally publicized in the local newspapers, but in a recent Sporting News survey of players, Bobby Bonds and Ron Bryant were not only chosen on the National League All-Star team, but were named NL Player and Pitcher of the Year, respectively.

That at least in part vindicates Bryant for the shaft he received as a 24 game winner in not winning the NL Cy Young Award of even being chosen on the All-Star team by Sparky Anderson. Tom Seaver, incidentally, was the right handed pitcher chosen by players on the Sporting News All-Star squad, but was 43 points (out of 225 voting players) behind Bryant in balloting as the league's outstanding pitcher.

Chris Speier blew it by collapsing after being the starting shortstop in the All-Star game, and failed to repeat on the Sporting News team, being beaten out by rival Dodger shortstop Bill Russell.

The A's placed four men on the Sporting News team: Ken Holtzman (Catfish Hunter got it again!), Sal Bando, Campy Campaneris and Reggie Jackson, the latter of whom was an almost unanimous choice as AL Player of the Year. Jackson, incidentally, led the AL in game winning hits, with 18.

Four All-Stars from one team was not a record, incidentally. The 1966 Orioles also placed four: Frank and Brooks Robinson, Boog Powell and Luie Aparicio. But the Twins of '65 placed the most ever — five. They were Mudcat Grant, Matt Battey, Zoilo Versalles, Jim Hall and Tony Oliva.

WE'D LIKE to know what good it did the Warriors for Will Chamberlain to leave the Lakers. All that did was force L.A. to pick up Elmore Smith from Buffalo in a "desperation" move, and what's Smith doing? Leading pro basketball in blocked shots, that's all. He's doing it 8.5 times per game, and nobody else is even close. Kareem Abdul-Jabbar is second in the NBA, with 5.25 per game. Leader in the ABA is Darnell Hillman, who has only 3.4.

POSSIBLY the greatest example of balanced team scoring in the recent history of the NBA occurred during the Nov. 16 game between Detroit and KC-Omaha, won by Detroit, 125-98. High point man for Detroit was Willie Norwood, who tanked 15. Following him, five men scored 12 points, two scored 10, for a total of eight men in double figures. Two more just missed, each scoring nine points.

STAVE
Post Sports Writer
They call themselves the "CSM Psychos."
They know that Fresno CC, their opponent on the Hilltop next Saturday in the second round of the State football playoffs, has never lost a playoff game.

They know Fresno has won 10 playoff games and three State titles in five years.

They don't care. The emotionally charged Bulldogs sought — successfully — to erase their "No-Name" image Friday by upsetting third-ranked Los Angeles Pierce in a nail-biter at Chabot in Hayward, 17-14.

First-year coach Steve Shafer gathered the Bulldogs together afterward. "They have three titles in five years," he said. "I've seen them play this year. They've only lost one game. They're good — and we can beat 'em."

"Yeeeaaggh," said the Psychos.

CSM's now-famed defense killed the Pierce Wishbone, but suffered breakdowns on two plays — a 62-yard run on a third-and-one play, and a 70-yard TD on a short pass over the middle that broke open.

At the end, with CSM leading 17-14, Pierce was driving again. All the Brahmas needed was a few yards and a field goal.

State regulations say if there's a tie in a playoff, the first tie-breaking consideration is total yardage. Pierce was perilously close to getting the tying field goal and the winning yardage.

With only seconds left (and no time outs remaining) Pierce quarterback Steve Gensler hit wide receiver Frank Berriz at the CSM 36, but Bulldog defender Walt Belinsky dragged Berriz to the muddy turf inbounds, and the clock ran out.

"I was aware of the time," said Belinsky, a Burlingame High product. "I looked at the clock when 15 seconds were left. I let him (Berriz) catch the ball. I knew if I deflected it the clock would stop and I didn't want that to happen. I was trying to pull him down in bounds, but in that mud I couldn't see where the sideline was."

Pierce ended with two more total yards, 290-288, but that figure was academic. Thanks to a sometimes-maligned offense, CSM had the points.

The Bulldogs scored first on a second-quarter 37-yard field goal by Steve LaPlante, a freshman from Aragon.

Four plays later, on third and one, Pierce back Darryl Moore burst through the middle for 62 yards and a score. Pierce led, 7-3.

"We had a blitz going and they caught us," said Shafer. "We had one man on the running back and we got beat."

With 3:28 left in the third quarter CSM, with the aid of a major penalty on a punt reception, got the ball at the Pierce 28. Four plays and two penalties later slotback Tim Mehan started left on a power sweep, cut back through the middle behind a fine block, put on a couple of moves and scored from 14 yards out. CSM took a 10-7 lead.

Two plays after that Pierce, demonstrating an uncanny ability to recover from adversity, scored on a 70-yard pass play from Gensler to Berriz. Berriz turned in over the middle, slipped by two tacklers and managed to score before CSM sprinter-back Bill Popin could catch him. That made it 14-10, Pierce.

"That breakdown was a matter of technique," said Shafer. "The defenders forgot to make adjustments for the footing, and were playing too tight."

With no time left on the clock in the third quarter, Mehan starred again.

He went in motion and got the ball on what was apparently a power sweep — then stopped and tossed an arching, spinning pass downfield to Rich Clarke, who had gotten himself open by 15 yards. Bang. A 54-yard TD, the last scoring of the night.

"The pass was a little wobbly," said Mehan, a Sequoia High grad who came to CSM after a year at Oklahoma. "But it got there. To the defense, it looked like the same play we'd gotten the touchdown on before. It's tough on the secondary — they have to protect against the run."

Mehan rushed, passed and received — all effectively. He got 45 yards in eight carries, passed once for the TD and caught a pass for 25 yards.

CSM scored on the last play of the third quarter — and for the next 15 minutes the defense was on the spot. It performed superbly. Pierce, which had passed dangerously well early, ran into trouble. And only on two late drive did the Brahmas manage to penetrate into CSM territory.

Twice the Bulldogs killed Pierce uprisings — one interception by defensive back Dan Howry from Sam Mateo and linebacker Barry Hyde from Menlo-Atherton.

Running availed Pierce nothing — the Brahmas only got one first down on the ground all night, on the long TD.

"It seemed we were quicker," said defensive lineman Mike Solari, a freshman from El Camino. "It was hard to tell how good they were in that footing, but I think we got off the line quicker." Solari led CSM in tackles.

"It was kind of a scary game at the end," said Paul Brandow, a stinger (deep linebacker in Shafer's complicated defense) from Carmel. "At the end we were only rushing two guys, and had two ready to contain their quarterback in case he tried to run. We had some trouble getting off because of the mud."

When it became obvious that Pierce had to pass to win — most of the fourth quarter — CSM adjusted its defense and put in an extra defensive back. That helped, because the mud had been causing problems.

"We had to lighten up," said Gregg Houts, a freshman from Burlingame who had earlier in the week been named Golden Gate Conference Defensive Back of the Year.

"We were letting them throw underneath us. We had to loosen up, play deeper. We'd start eight or nine yards off the line instead of six. We'd start backpedalling earlier."

Houts figured the win this way: "We finished the regular season by beating San Jose. They were ranked No. 4 in the state. Tonight we beat No. 3. What does that make us?" Fresno, the next step in the ladder, is No. 2. CSM went into the game ranked eighth, and had only broken into the top 10 after the San Jose game.

"Nobody is ever going to blow us off the field," said center Mark Vorsatz, a sophomore from Serra. "We're just too emotional a team. We're the Psychos — yeah." Several players agreed, enthusiastically.

"I think the offensive line was overlooked, too," said Vorsatz. "Naturally, it's because our defense is so outstanding. But we're all doing a job."

And so the celebration went on after CSM's first-ever win in the playoffs.

Said Shafer, "I think tonight's game was probably as fine a football win as this school's ever had. 'Nobody argued with him, least of all the Psychos."

Courier. The gutsy little pickup from Ford.

Ford's "little" import is an economy pickup, sure—but it's also engineered for durability and long life.

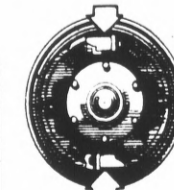

4-cyl. 1800-cc overhead cam engine has aluminum alloy head, big valves for improved breathing, 5 main bearings for rigidity and strength.

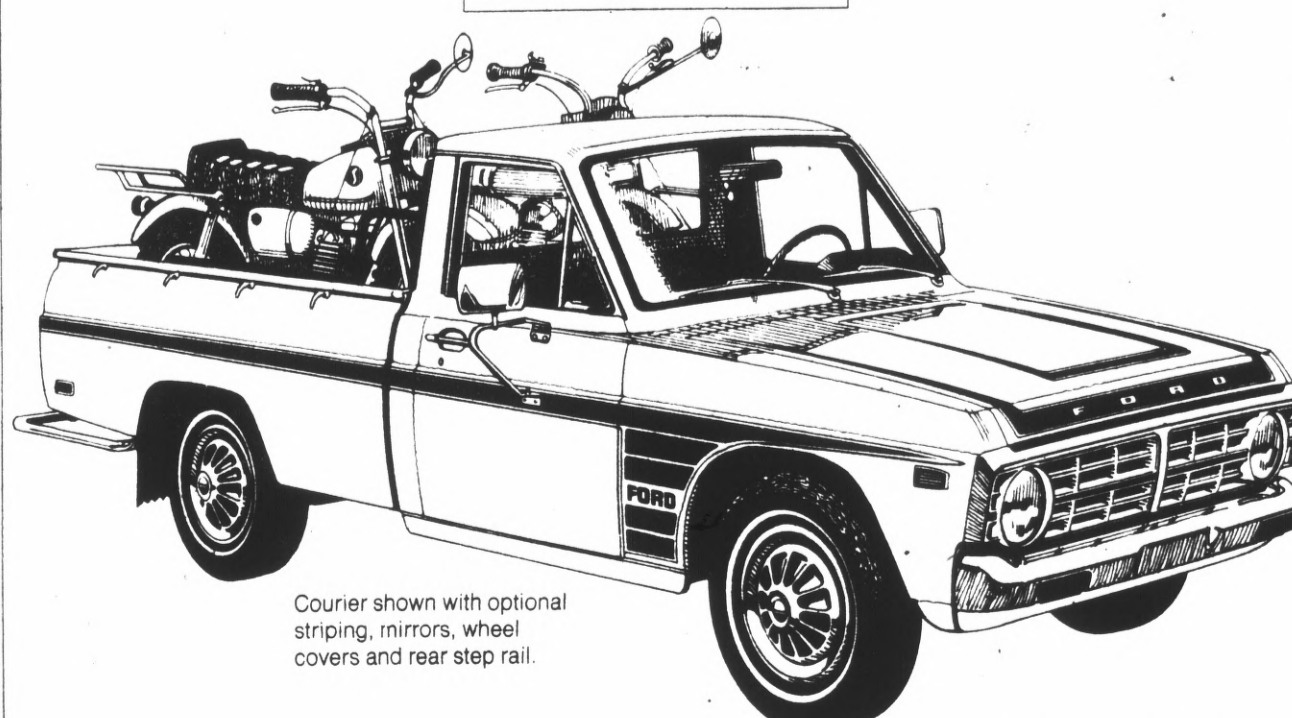

Strong frame has 7 crossmembers. Box-section rails Long 104.3-in. wheelbase helps smooth the ride. Courier weighs only 2,515 lbs., but carries 1,400 lb. of people and payload.

Courier's many options include box cover, automatic transmission, air conditioner.

Dual cylinder brakes... each wheel has not 1, but 2 brake cylinders, for sure stops.

Supersonics Hold On to Slim Lead

In last week's Daly City Recreation Division's three man hunch league, the Supersonics downed the Rusty Nails 40-20.

The Supersonics had balanced scoring from their whole team that led to the victory.

The Lucky Six did not need too much luck as they defeated the hapless Cougars 41-14. Wong and Jen led the Lucky Six attack with 21 and 14 points respectively. Ed Chan had 6 in a losing cause for the Cougars.

The Warriors edged the Wonders in an exciting game by a final score of 42-38. Manny and David Garcia hit for 13 and 16 points for the winners.

The Lakers behind the 16 point totals of John O'Keefe and Rich Wright defeated the No Name Gang 40-21.

Raelis II scored at will against Payless Drugs and registered their fourth win of the season by a final score of 40-22.

In open division Raelis I rolled to their sixth straight victory of the season as they defeated the 29ers 41-35.

The Raelis Club was led by Barry's 21 points and the 29ers Beerman pumped in 20 in a losing cause.

The Center Folds opened up their offense and drilled the Rusty Nails 40-19. Roy Reitz scored 28 points for the Center Folds as his shooting was fantastic.

The Fixers hooked up with Payless Drugs and came away with a 41-21 victory. Alito Castano had 21 and B. Jones contributed 12 points for the winners. Tim Barry scored 21 points for Payless Drugs in this losing effort.

Westmoor Tops All-NPL Team

North Peninsula League co-champion Westmoor collared the major honors in the All-NPL football team announced last week.

Rob Baptista, a junior running back, was Back of the Year, and Brendan Milton, the only player picked for both offense and defense, was Lineman of the Year. Ram coach Pete Matisi was also named Coach of the Year.

Westmoor also had the only sophomore named, defensive back Rick Wyatt.

The only repeater from last year's team was South San Francisco guard Gordon Miller.

This may have been one of the more unique all-star teams of all time — no quarterback was chosen.

ALL-NPL FOOTBALL

Running backs — Rob Baptista (Westmoor), John McKeon (South S.F.), Rolf Stevens (Half Moon Bay).

Receivers — Steve Broadway (Oceana), John Moura (Jefferson), Tackles — Chris White (Westmoor), Paul Womack (Oceana).

Guards — Gordon Miller (SSF), John Garzoli (El Camino).

Center — Brendan Milton (Westmoor).

DEFENSE

Linebackers — Reggie Redmond (Serramonte), Steve Lacey (Terra Nova), Jerry Olmo (SSF), Joe Holmes (El Camino), Bill Korbus (Westmoor).

Defensive backs — Rick Wyatt (Westmoor), Jerome Williams (Serramonte), Derek Tucker (Oceana), Perry Martin (Half Moon Bay).

Linebackers — Corey Miller (Oceana), Art Eklund (El Camino).

Ends — Mike Burns (El Camino), Everett Herrera (SSF), Steve Wilburn (SSF).

Locals Top Qualifiers

Cathy Robinson of the San Mateo Post Office League and Paul Verbelli of the Woodlake League are the first qualifiers for the Primavera Lane's "Bowler of the Year" honors.

Padres Top All-County Team

By CHRISTOPHER STAVE
Post Sports Writer

Serra, Woodside and Capuchino high schools dominated first-team 1973 Post All-County Football Team balloting.

Serra (8-2) placed five first-teamers; Cap (7-2) and Woodside (7-2) each had four.

Most Valuable Player was Woodside quarterback Jack Henderson, who wrote his name in the SPAL record book several times this season: career passing yardage (2,322); career passes attempted (338) and completed (157); career TD passes (35); season passes attempted (195) and completed (99) plus single game marks of 22 completions and 41 attempts.

Not surprisingly, two of the other Woodside picks were on the other end of Henderson's tosses — wide receiver Charlie March and tight end Dave Brunsting.

March caught passes for 1,087 yards and 19 TDs in his career; his 681 yards and 11 TD catches in 1972 are SPAL season records.

The other Woodside first-teamer was defensive lineman John Posthauer, an outstanding two-way player.

Capuchino expected to pass as much as 75 per cent of the time this season, according to one Mustang coach. Cap ended up gaining most of its yards on the ground, but glue-fingered wide receiver Mike Slotnick (who was also top defensive back and had a 43.5 average on 17 punts during the MPL season) was picked for the first team.

The other Cap picks were tackle Dan Lehr, who called blocking assignments and made the key blocks on Cap's very successful option sweep; defensive lineman Joe Fass, a top two-way player; and linebacker Kim Jensen, who missed the early part of the season but came back to play in five league games and help win Cap a share of the MPL title.

Serra was a top offensive threat in the tough WCAL, thanks in no small part to tackle Lee Roy Kloeze, running back Jim Walsh and wide receiver John Caselli.

Walsh had 170 carries for 931 yards for the entire season, and scored 11 touchdowns. Caselli had 42 catches for 486 yards and nine TDs.

The other Serra first-teamers were defensive end Mike Gillogley and line-backer Dennis Maloney (who moved over from offensive guard midway through the season, and made a big difference).

Joining Walsh in the offensive backfield were junior Hillsdale running back Dewey Bohling (who had 79 carries for 477 yards and 10 receptions for 189 yards in six MPL games) and South San Francisco's John McKeon, runnerup to Henderson in the MVP balloting.

The offensive interior line averaged 6-1½, 215 pounds. Joining Lehr and Kloeze were Westmoor center Brendan Milton, another superior two-way player, and guards

Randy McCoy of Hillsdale and Mike Giron of Burlingame.

Gillogley's partner at defensive end was Jerry Wilkinson of San Mateo, the largest (6-8, 240) player on the team. The tackles were Fass, Posthauer and Carlmont's Bob Hoey. Average size of the defensive down linemen was 6-3, 209.

The third linebacker was Jerry Olmo of South City; said one Capuchino coach, "Oh, yeah, I remember THAT guy."

Westmoor defensive back Rick Wyatt was the only sophomore to make the team (and the first to do so since 1967).

San Mateo defensive back Randy Hurst was a specialist, but the other two DBs were two-way players who were crucial to their teams' success: Mills' Skip Strathairn (also a running back) and Carlmont's Tony Jones (also a quarterback).

There were five underclassmen on the first team, and five more on the honorable mention list, more than usual. Two juniors, Cap's Ralph Costanzo and Serra's Jim Freitas, contributed mightily to a thorny voting problem at the quarterback spot.

Freitas, a good passer, and Costanzo, who passed and ran the option well, both made the team on honorable mention. So did Mills' Kurt McCracken. McCracken was almost exclusively a runner (quarterback is not his natural position) but that fit in fine with Mills' offensive scheme of things.

A BUNCH OF CINDERELLAS

Westmoor Harriers Surprise

Carlmont High cross-country coach Loren Lansberry just happened to walk by a group of Westmoor runners Wednesday following the Central Coast Section meet at Belmont's Crystal Springs course.

Lansberry graciously offered his congratulations to the gathering — Westmoor had just pulled the surprise of the CCS meet by finishing third, just ahead of Lansberry's powerful Scots.

"Hey, where did you guys come from?" smiled Lansberry. "Nobody down here even heard of you before. You're a bunch of Cinderellas."

"Cinderellas?" quipped a good-natured Ram. "Does that mean we turn into pumpkins tonight?"

Well, not quite. But a few unsuspecting runners and coaches from other CCS schools may have felt like pumpkins after Westmoor had pulled in with its shocker.

The Daly City-based North Peninsula League titlist finished second meet champ

Leigh of San Jose and runnerup St. Francis of Mountain View, which had outdistanced the Rams for the Region I title almost a week earlier.

Other local teams placing were Serra (ninth), San Carlos (13th) and Mills (17th). It was the first time in a long while Mills and Serra had been represented.

A pair of local individuals turned in top efforts. San Carlos junior Mitch Kingery was the meet winner on the 3.0 mile course in 14:42, and Oceana's Bob Powell swept into an unexpected fourth spot in 15:09.

Although Kingery's time was 14 seconds off his course record, he still beat his closest competitor by 19 seconds and controlled the race from the start. "That Kingery is really something," raved one unidentified coach walking off the course. "He just booms out and take off. He's in a class all by himself."

Another well-qualified observer had praise for Kingery. "I thought he'd level off after the way he's run the past few years," said injured College of San Mateo cross-country standout Jim Van Dine, "but he just keeps getting better. His only trouble before was not running smart races once in a while, but he hasn't had any problems like that this year."

Hillsdale's Rob Barnett, the Region I champ with high hopes for a top CCS placing, was hurt considerably from a stomach disorder on Tuesday and finished well back in the pack. "I wasn't getting any oxygen circulation," he said. "I just couldn't breathe."

Westmoor's best finisher was Bob Miller (13:15-33). He had a good supporting cast in Tony Tarantino (31:15-58), John Wilson (48:16-18) and Jim Liston (58:16-24).

"We thought we could be up there," said Ram coach Art Reade, "but we weren't sure about some of the teams in the southern areas. We didn't know anything about them. Our key was to stay close with St. Francis."

If we did that, we knew we would finish high."

"We're not disappointed," said Lansberry. "We've never been out of this meet and we were just glad to be here. We're young, so next year looks good." Best Scot finisher was junior Ed Young (15:15-42).

Serra and Mills, also with young teams and bright futures, had juniors for their top men. Gerry Harnett (36:16-06) paced the Padres, and Fred Warren (38:16-07) led the Vikings.

TEAM SCORES

Two Boys Win First 'A' Medals

Two boys won their first "A" time medals as they and four other swimmers of the South San Francisco Aquatic Club won 14 ribbons at the Pacifica Sea Lions' "B" swim meet recently.

The meet was sanctioned by the Pacific Association of the A.A.U. and held under rainy conditions at Terra Nova High School, Pacifica, earlier this month. In all, 16 swimmers represented the Aquatic Club against representatives of 18 swim clubs from Pacifica to Cupertino.

John Alvarado, 8, won his "A" medal by finishing second in 50-yard backstroke with a time of 45.8.

John Fuentes, 12, won his "A" medal by being first in 50-yard backstroke with a time of 35.0.

Mary Ann Soto, 10, won four ribbons: second place in 100-yard individual medley, fourth place in 50-yard butterfly, sixth place in 100-yard freestyle, and sixth place in 50-yard backstroke.

Martha Olson, 13, won ribbons in each of the events she entered.

Jennifer Young, 9, won a fourth place ribbon in 50-yard butterfly and Kevin Regan, age 13, won an eighth place ribbon in 50-yard freestyle.

The Aquatic Club medley relay team finished in seventh place in a field of 24 teams with a time of 2:28.2.

The next "B" meet for the Aquatic Club will be at De Anza College in Cupertino Dec. 8-9. The host club is the De Anza Swim Club.

The difference is POWER, says CSM basketball coach Bobby Pounds.

"Last year the team was all right. We hung in games for a while. But we had no POWER."

"This sort of thing is cyclical, though. A lot of the superstars from the Golden Gate Conference last year are gone now. John Noco (one of Pounds' colleagues on the Hill) reffed a CCSF scrimmage recently and said they're actually human this year."

CSM, with the new power (Scoring, ballhandling and rebounding) that Pounds is so happy about, raised its record to 2-0 Saturday night with a 78-72 home opener win over Fresno City College.

In another JC game Saturday night Menlo, led by Clifton Martin (10 points) and Howie Dallmar (11), beat the visiting Moffett Field Flyers, 39-42.

To be sure, Fresno isn't the threat it's been in the past. The Rams had lost to Cuesta the previous night, 78-73, and are 0-2.

And CSM didn't play the world's best co-ordinated game. But glimmerings of good things are there.

"I think it's time for our image to change," said Pounds.

Sure enough, CSM had won eight games in the previous four years. It's been many moons since the Bulldogs won two straight to open a season. Or two straight at any time.

It's also been a while since CSM has had good talent from local high schools, or drawn 400 people for a game — that's how many showed up Saturday.

The Bulldogs, sparked by 6-7 freshman center Tony Williams and veterans Craig Nance and Bobby Wright, controlled the boards and jumped out to a quick 24-10 lead.

Lack of cohesiveness on offense, an occasionally leaky defense and a tendency to lose control when the pace picked up hurt CSM in the second half, when Fresno made several runs at the lead.

The Rams pulled to within six, 69-63, with 4:19 left in the game, pressing and working faster than before.

But Williams and Wright (who at one point scored 10 straight points) pushed the CSM lead to 76-65 with 2:27 left, and Pounds was able to relax (though he had never really looked worried in the first place).

The Bulldogs readily admitted that they have a long way to go. But they're also confident.

"We're really not together now," said Williams, a freshman from San Mateo High. "We're not used to each other yet. And we're still kind of tight. We kind of fell apart for a while tonight. But we're really good potential."

"We've got good shooters and we've got boards," said the 6-6 Nance, who looks much happier working at forward than he did last year at center.

Wright took far fewer shots Saturday than he used to last season, when he shouldered most of the Bulldog offensive burden. But he likes it that way.

"It's much better having a bunch of people up there who can rebound," he said. "It's going to be a much better team. We're going to be able to really play people hard."

Said Williams, "We haven't really played a good game yet. Friday we won by 15 and we should have won by twice that. We should have won by more tonight. But we have size and over-all ability. We've got the power. We've got to work harder."

Someone's been working already. Savidge is measurably improved, a disciplined player who's become a solid forward. And at 6-5, he's the shortest Bulldog on the front line.

The shot selection is immensely better than last year. There's a solid first five — and a bench that can help — for perhaps the first time in Pounds' tenure. Players who last year might have gambled and gunned are more controlled and usually more effective now. The offense can come from anywhere, instead of being concentrated in one or two players.

Center Roy Umland, a 6-6, 23-year-old freshman from El Camino by way of the service, is on crutches, but he should be ready for some duty by the time Friday's opening round action in the County JC Tournament at Canada rolls around.

"It's a very young team," said Pounds. "They're a little tight. They make some mistakes. But — they've got power. I think we may be able to play well in the conference this year."

The tournament at Canada this weekend should be a good test for the Bulldogs — Canada is solid and Menlo, as usual, isn't hurting.

Ski Season Ushered in

Thanksgiving Day ushered in the 1973-74 season as most resorts in the High Sierra country cranked up their lifts. Snow depths range up to six feet at various resorts, with cold nights expected to preserve the pack.

Sugar Bowl, meanwhile, opened Friday, but closed Sunday. The resort, which boasts a snowpack ranging from 5 feet, will open again the weekend of Dec. 1-2. Sugar Bowl will open on a daily basis starting Dec. 7.

Kirkwood opened its second season yesterday. Two new chairs have been added at the Highway 88 resort, bringing the total to six double chairlifts. All facilities will be in daily operation.

Boreal Ridge general manager Jay Price, in a quandry over the fuel crisis, is investigating transportation alternatives to the Highway 80 resort at Castle Peak.

Price is currently discussing "open end" charters with several bus companies. Price also mentioned AMTRAK trains as an alternate solution.

Dam Watch Begins; CD Plans in Gear

By VERA GRAHAM

The City of San Mateo has initiated a Crystal Springs dam watch.

It has an immediate and direct concern with the potential problem of a break in the dam caused by an earthquake.

San Mateo with its population of 80,000 lies directly in the path of flood waters should the dam give way. Sections of Hillsborough would also be affected.

In compliance with Mayor Floyd E. Welch's instructions to step up San Mateo's preparedness program, City Mgr. John Lilly has outlined the dam observation plan and what would happen in the event of a break.

Granted the prospect of a dam break is remote, city officials say preparedness is vital to insure public safety.

The flood plain would extend in an irregular radius starting on the north from approximately the San Mateo golf course at Coyote Point westward to a point beyond South School in Hillsborough.

On the south it would flow in diminishing depths to a line extending east and west, approximately from the intersection of El Camino Real and Hillsdale Boulevard.

North and southbound traffic would be halted at the perimeters. Eastbound traffic would be halted in a line extending north and south approximately from Baywood School.

Beresford Park would be designated as a "Mass Care" area. Chope Community Hospital, unless shut down, would provide "Medical Aid." The lower floor of Mills Hospital would be knocked out of commission, straddling San Mateo creek as it does. The creek would be the main channel of the flow from which waters would spill out.

Critically endangered locations would include San Mateo High School, Hillsborough's South School, the Crystal Springs School for Girls, all of downtown San Mateo, Lawrence and Shoreview schools would have to be evacuated as well as Sunnybrae, Albion H. Horral, Parkside school, and the Fairgrounds as well as Bay Meadows.

The city's sewage disposal plant would be affected.

Lilly explains that whenever either of the two emergency services, police or fire, get any information from any source that an earthquake has been experienced anywhere in San Mateo, the dam watch goes into effect.

When such an alert is sounded, a high beam spotlight equipped fire truck with observers would be sent out immediately from Engine 7 located on De Anza Boulevard. Back roads, now determined to be relatively safe, would be used to position the men on the southerly portion of an o/d road which overlooks Crystal Springs dam.

If the warning comes at night, the fire truck would spotlight the dam to check for hairline breaks. Fire fighters would maintain a constant check on the structure and the volume of water in San Mateo creek.

At the same time fire and police would notify other agencies and individuals who would have to direct rescue operations in the event of catastrophe.

Once positioned, firemen notify police the dam observation is in effect. They do not move until relieved.

Police in turn alert other agencies, and dispatch three patrol cars to pick up the director of public works, deputy director of public works and city manager.

The San Mateo city manager carries a "pager" at all times. It is a one-way transmission radio making it possible to locate him at any time.

The director and deputy director of public works both have two-way radios in their cars and there is a public works transmission network in the department.

Lilly notes there are some voids in contacting the public works officials, and while they don't have papers yet, they will be provided with some portable equipment.

All three key city directors will be taken to the dam observation site. They will decide if the condition warrants some type of action. If everything is under control, the firemen will be relieved of duty. If not, a fire service officer will be posted on the site during the day.

If conditions are such that some type of action is warranted, one of the three officials will make the decision on what should be done, whether to alert the county's Civil Disaster Council, in the event of a breach in the dam. If such is the case, police and fire are notified as to the magnitude of the problem. They in turn notify the CD Council and Director William Hinchcliff. He sets into motion plans which immediately call for blocking off north and south arterials into San Mateo.

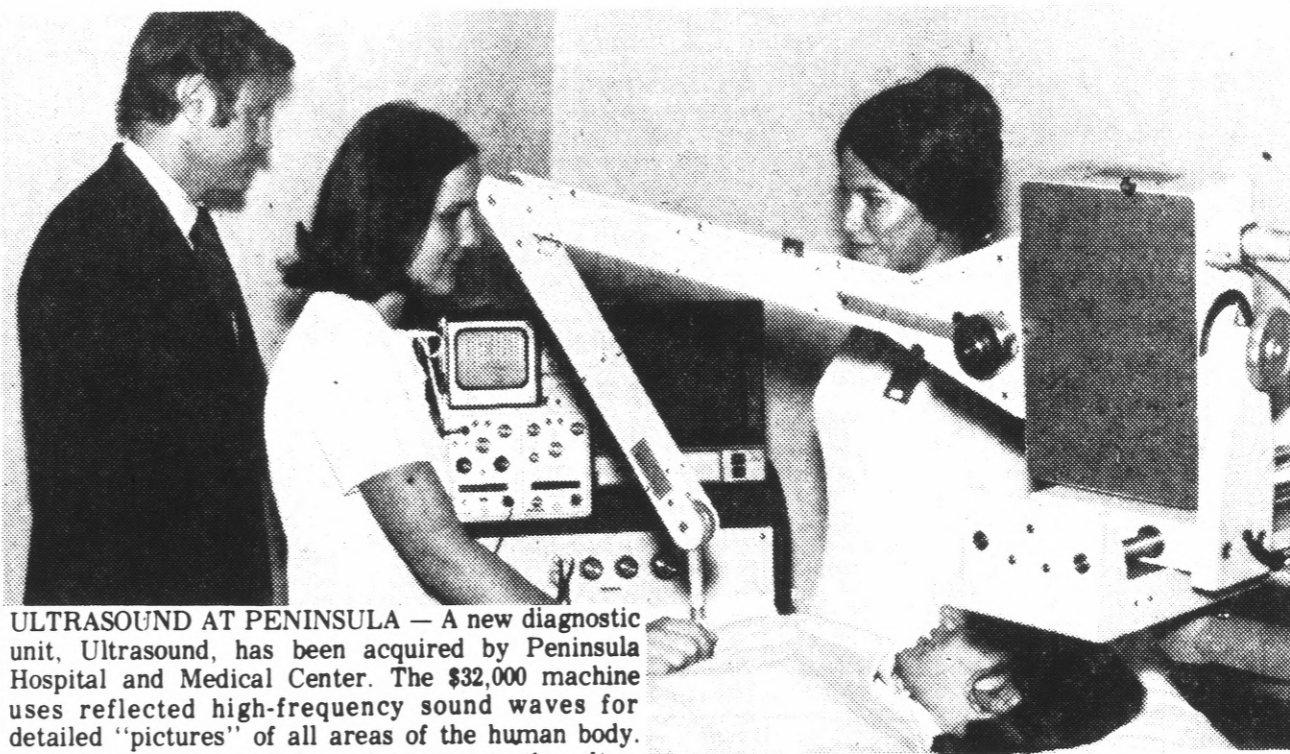

Sirens will be sounded on a continuous three-minute alert. The sound is a steady one, not a fluctuating wail.

At the same time radio stations will be alerted so they can broadcast the alarm.

Meanwhile, residents in lower sections of the city would be evacuated.

Lilly emphasizes families in the sections which would be flooded if the dam burst, should acquaint themselves with what they should do, preparatory to leaving their homes. Above all, Lilly emphasized, they should acquaint themselves with power cutoffs and turn off gas and electrical power.

"We don't want to scare people," the city manager emphasized. "On the other hand, we want people to know the city is concerned about their welfare, and under the mayor's and city council's instructions we are prepared to look out for their safety."

Chamber Music Contest Slated

The Performers and Composers Guild of the San Mateo County Chamber Music Society has announced its "Young Chamber Music Performers Competition and Awards Concert."

The competition is open to any unamplified ensemble, which does not require a conductor, whose individual members are all under the age of 21 and residents of San Mateo County.

Application deadline is February 15.

Competition will be March 16.

Meeting of Trial Lawyers Nov. 29

James L. Frayne, executive director of the California Trial Lawyers Association, will be featured speaker at a noon luncheon meeting of the San Mateo County Trial Lawyers Association Nov. 29, at the Villa Chartier in San Mateo.

Frayne will discuss the current legislative scene in Sacramento, where he headquarters for the state trial bar, as well as the latest overview on the subject of reapportionment.

The group will pay tribute to Floyd Demanes of Burlingame, outgoing CTLA president and past president of the San Mateo chapter, at the meeting, according to Zerne P. Haning III of San Carlos, program chairman.

Chapter President George R. Corey of San Bruno said an invitation has been extended to David Baum of San Francisco, newly-elected CTLA president, to attend.

Revitalized State Program for Aged

Assemblyman Louis J. Papan (D-San Mateo County) has announced that a reorganized and revitalized state program for dealing with problems of the aging will go into action next year as a result of legislation passed during the recently ended session.

Papan said that this program differs from many similar government efforts because senior citizens had a strong hand in its design and development.

Assembly Bill 2263 (Burton, D-San Francisco) was co-authored by Speaker

Bob Moretti and others.

"Senior citizen organizations have pointed out that the present State Commission on Aging gives them little influence as there is no guarantee that any of the appointees will be from the ranks of the elderly, or be able to deal with problems of the aging," Papan said.

Under AB 2263, the 15-member commission will be comprised of nine persons appointed by the Governor, three by the Assembly Speaker and three by Senate Rules Committee. Five of the Governor's appointees and three each of the Speaker's and Senate Rules' must be 55 years of age or older. Papan stated that the primary function of the commission will be an advisory body in the form of a "watchdog" panel to serve as an advocate for senior concerns.

The new law states that a significant number of the commission members shall be consumers of state services for the aging; this includes members of minority groups and persons knowledgeable in the provisions of services for the elderly.

"AB 2263 also establishes a permanent, active State Office of the Aging, with staff, to act as advocate for the elderly and provide them with comprehensive planning and delivery of services," Papan explained.

Large increases in federal funds for nutritional and other elderly programs mandated the creation of a more active and responsible state agency for senior problems. Most of the cost of the restructuring can be financed by existing funds, which are primarily federal, according to Papan.

Plants Make A Nice Yule Present

Even before Thanksgiving Day leftovers vanish from the refrigerator, many shoppers are already engrossed in selecting gifts for Christmas. The earlybirds plan ahead and are intent on finding sure-to-please gifts for friends and loved ones.

This year, with a renewal of interest in the use of natural materials — be it termed a retu, in to nature or an increased awareness and concern over the quality of our environment — more Californians than ever before will be including all kinds of living greenery on their Christmas shopping lists.

In offering such a prediction, the California Association of Nurserymen points out the demand for gift-type plant materials, shrubs, trees, bulbs, foliage and flowering choices is at an all-time high. The supply of living gift plants is also at a peak, the myriad possibilities would seemingly delight even the most difficult-to-shop for individual on one's Christmas list.

Further, one needn't be a gardener or a hobbyist to enjoy a gift plant. It would be an arbitrary aunt, in deed, that wouldn't be tickled to receive an old-fashioned Piggyback plant to enjoy indoors. And, a stern father-in-law would melt and smile with satisfaction over receiving a blooming Camellia for the garden.

For gifts for do-it-yourselfers, your nearby nursery is a great place to shop. Kits are available for creating Terrariums, growing Bonsai plants, and Herb gardens. Or, you'll find creations of these ready-made for Christmas gifting.

Many nurseries will have the 1974 All-American Roses in time for Dec. 25 gifting. Such a gift would thrill a hobbyist or an amateur — as would a remembrance of a selection of spring-blooming bulbs.

From an indoor decorative standpoint, there are many foliage plants to please all tastes.

A Rubber Plant, Scheffleria, or Boston Fern in a distinctive stand would add dimension to indoor rooms. The living gifts provide dramatic beauty and enhance the appearance of furnishings, as well.

AMERICA'S LEADING CHEESE STORES

Well-balanced Economic Expansion Is Expected

The California economy has recorded strong gains in 1973 and a continued, well-balanced economic expansion is expected in 1974. Bank of America's economists reported today.

"Economic growth of the state is well balanced, with gains in all major sectors," said Bank of America's report "Focus on the California Economy: 1974." It said economic expansion will be lower in 1974, "but real increases will be recorded in almost every sector throughout the state."

Civilian employment in California totaled almost 8.6 million persons in 1973, an increase of more than 3 percent from the 1972 level, the report said. But next year the increase in jobs in the state — estimated at 180,000 — will be less than the growth in the labor force, the economists said. This would result in a slight increase in the rate of unemployment.

Many industrial plants are operating at full capacity in California and next year's output may be constrained by limited production capacity rather than a shortage of demand, the report said.

Consequently, Bank of America expects strong growth in business investment for new plants and equipment.

Dean J. McDowell and Cal Jones, Bank of America's regional vice presidents in the San Francisco Bay Area, said Bay Area employment increased at only half the rate of the rest of the state in 1973. A slowdown in the growth of government employment has affected the economic growth of the area, they said.

Energy Crisis: Mail Schedule Changed

Postmaster Donald Risso is urging San Brunans to post their domestic and foreign Christmas mail one to two weeks earlier than the Postal Service originally recommended, so that the energy shortage will not interfere with on-time deliveries.

"The urgency of the fuel energy crisis compels us to request a one-week advancement of suggested dates we gave for domestic mail and a two-week advancement for foreign mail," Risso said this week.

The new deadline for posting domestic first-class Christmas mail is Dec. 8 rather than Dec. 15, as previously announced. Domestic surface parcels, except those for Alaska and Hawaii, should be mailed by Dec. 3, instead of Dec. 10; to Alaska and Hawaii, mail immediately.

Airmail parcels and letters within the United States (except Alaska and Hawaii) should now be posted no later than Dec. 15. To Alaska and Hawaii, mail by Dec. 13.

International surface greeting cards to Canada and Mexico — mail immediately; airmail greetings and parcels to armed forces in Canada, Greenland, Labrador, Newfoundland, the Congo, Liberia, and the Azores — mail immediately.

International air parcels to Africa, the Near East and the Far East, airmail greetings and airmail parcels to Armed Forces in Belgium, Denmark, England, Finland, Germany, France, Greece, Italy, Norway, Netherlands, Portugal and Spain — mail immediately.

International air parcels to Canada and Mexico, international air greeting cards to Africa, the Near East and Far East — mail immediately; international air greetings to Europe, Central and South America — mail immediately; international air greetings to Canada and Mexico — mail by Dec. 4.

"The seriousness of the fuel shortage to the Postal Service is underlined," Postmaster Risso said, "by the fact that in addition to the fuel consumed by commercial air carriers, we require approximately 350 million gallons of fuel to travel 2.25 billion miles delivering the 90 billion pieces of mail that flows through the system each year. Our requirement for the month of December alone is 45 million gallons."

Postmaster Risso said "public cooperation on meeting these new advanced mail early dates is needed to help us complete all Christmas deliveries on time."

THE ART OF WALT DISNEY

One Gift for the Entire Family

The book of the year! Magnificent in design, this large volume recreates all the familiar Disney characters — from the 1928 animated cartoon "Steamboat Willie", featuring Mickey Mouse, on to the full length feature animated films, to Disney Land — the World of Disney and finally the plans of the "experimental city". The magic — the excitement — the endurance of Disney is as much with us in 1973 as it was in 1928. Mickey Mouse, Minnie, Donald Duck, Pluto and Goofy are all powerful symbols of something very American in spirit — an ideal Christmas gift.

JCPENNEY PASSENGER TIRE GUARANTEE.

JCPenney Protection Guarantee: Your JCPenney tire protection guarantee covers all JCPenney passenger tires (except those special application tires with separate guarantees) against all road hazard or defect failures. You are protected for the entire stated months of guarantee. If your tire fails during the guarantee period, return it to us and we will, at our option, repair your tire or make an allowance based on the original purchase price, excluding applicable Federal Excise Tax, toward the purchase of a new tire. We will allow 100% of the original purchase price excluding applicable Federal Excise Tax during the 100% allowance period. Thereafter, we will allow 50% or 25% of the original purchase price, excluding applicable Federal Excise Tax, toward the purchase of a new tire (see chart below). Federal Excise Tax adjustment allowance will be made on the basis of the percent of the original tread remaining.

Tread Life Protection: We build into every JCPenney tire safe traction indicators. They signal when your tire should be replaced. If your tire wears out (except for incorrect alignment) we will make an allowance based on the original purchase price, excluding applicable Federal Excise Tax, toward the purchase of a new tire. We will allow 1/3 during the first half or 1/3 during the second half of the stated months of guarantee. Federal Excise Tax adjustment allowance will be made on the basis of the percent of the original tread remaining. This guarantee is not transferable. It is only for private passenger cars or passenger station wagons.
